

Bishops Approve Verdict of Heresy For Bishop Brown

After Two-Hour Executive Session, Vote of 94 to 11 for Upholding Verdict of Court Rendered.

PRESIDING BISHOP TO PASS SENTENCE

Bishop Brown Asserts He Will Protest Deposition Until Sentence Is Formally Passed.

New Orleans, October 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America today approved the finding of a church court convicting Bishop William Montgomery Brown of heresy.

More than two hours were occupied in executive session and Bishop Brown addressed the house of bishops on his case.

It was announced that the vote was 94 to 11 in favor of approving the court's finding.

The next step in the "Brown case" must be taken by the presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, bishop of Bethlehem. The presiding bishop was notified by the house of bishops of its approval, and he may pass sentence at his pleasure. No date was set, it was said, for pronouncement of sentence, which would prevent the convicted bishop from exercising the functions of his office.

Bishop Brown's Status.

"Bishop Brown's status is still that of a member of the house of bishops, entitled to attend all its meetings until he has had sentence passed on him by the presiding bishop," said Bishop Charles Fiske, of central New York, speaking for the house.

"When the presiding bishop is ready to act, he will summon Bishop Brown before him and pass sentence, and when that sentence has been passed, Bishop Brown will cease to be a member of the house of bishops," he continued.

Bishop Fiske dictated the following statement:

Statement of Bishop Fiske.

"Bishop Brown presented a memorial, requesting that all action be delayed until the conference should have set up the ultimate court of appeal provided for in the constitution of the church. He desired to have the convention wait three years until that court could be properly set up. His request was denied by a viva voce vote on motion of the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts. The record of the trial was then before the house of bishops. All that the house of bishops could do was to affirm or reject the verdict of that court and a two-thirds vote of the entire house entitled to vote, whether present or not, was necessary to affirm. Under those circumstances the vote was put on a roll call."

The resolution disposing of the "Brown case," as given out by the house of bishops, reads:

"Resolved, that this house approve the finding of the trial court affirmed by the court of review in the matter of the presentment of the Rt. Rev. William Montgomery Brown, finding the accused guilty of holding and keeping publicly and advisedly a doctrine contrary to that held by the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, in the manner and form as set forth in the presentment as to each of the charges and specifications of the presentment."

"Resolved, that the action of this house be communicated to the presiding bishop."

Will Protest Until Sentenced.

"I'll be here to take my seat in the house of bishops tomorrow," Bishop Brown declared immediately after adjournment. "I will protest deposition until the sentence against me is formally passed. There was no action taken this afternoon to exclude me from the house, and I am hopeful that I will not be deprived of my seat."

"I merely asked for a hearing this afternoon. I had no intention of protesting, but I could not go through with it. I broke down and was forced to take my seat. I would like to ask the presiding bishop now just what my stand."

Joanna Says:

Anything that I don't know, is what hurts.

I know what you mean when you say I was made for somebody to love. You'd like to be the somebody!

It's funny. But whenever a mother goes in for a chow her daughter goes to the devil and finds him too old-fashioned to be amusing.

The kind of wives a girl meets nowadays are the kind other men are always buying red roses for.

If a girl puts outside of her all the clothes and inside of her all the prudishness some people think she ought to be a good girl for church.

PARTIAL SUPPORT GIVEN TO MITCHELL POLICIES BY LEGION

Fight Averted by Adoption of Compromise Resolution, Recommending Defense Secretary.

Omaha, Neb., October 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The American Legion accorded Colonel William Mitchell, the army's outspoken critic of the nation's armament policy, a measure of commendation today. It unanimously adopted a resolution recommending one of his plans for rehabilitation of the national defense by creating a separate cabinet officer to have control of three equal branches—army, navy and air.

For three days the resolution was fought over and rearranged in committee until it was found acceptable to all parties.

Thereby, what had promised to be one of the hardest contests ever witnessed on the floor of any of the seven national conventions of the legion was averted. The situation was regarded as dangerous until the actual recording of the vote.

Opposition Is Squelched.

The leaders had worked so well, however, that none of those who firmly asserted last night they would fight on the convention floor for open endorsement of Colonel Mitchell offered to begin hostilities.

The resolution favors a far-reaching reorganization of the national defense, in that it would supplant either the war or navy secretary and, instead, designate a defense secretary. It was the consensus that the nothing immediately might be expected to result from passage of the resolution, and that the step advocated would require years of constructive effort.

The Mitchell leaders expressed satisfaction with the resolution, however, saying it was all they could expect at this time, and that to have inflamed the legionnaires by an open floor fight would not have worked for internal harmony and unified action.

Busy on Candidates.

With this matter out of the way, the legion's attention was turned to the last item on its program, tomorrow's election of national officers.

Various state delegations had refrained from caucusing until after the Mitchell incident was settled, and tonight delegation headquarters were scenes of intense activity.

Edwin Spafford, New York, backed by the solid strength of the New York delegation, John McQuigg, of East Cleveland, Ohio, and Howard P. Savage, of Chicago, sponsored by a united Illinois delegation, were three outstanding leaders in the contest tonight.

Straddle on World Court.

The resolutions committee, which yesterday forced reconsideration by the court of review in the matter of the presentment of the Rt. Rev. William Montgomery Brown, finding the accused guilty of holding and keeping publicly and advisedly a doctrine contrary to that held by the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, in the manner and form as set forth in the presentment as to each of the charges and specifications of the presentment.

"Resolved, that the action of this house be communicated to the presiding bishop."

Will Protest Until Sentenced.

"I'll be here to take my seat in the house of bishops tomorrow," Bishop Brown declared immediately after adjournment. "I will protest deposition until the sentence against me is formally passed. There was no action taken this afternoon to exclude me from the house, and I am hopeful that I will not be deprived of my seat."

COLE'S CONFIDENT AT CLOSE OF TRIAL

Wealthy Cotton Manufacturer Reads Letters While Attorney Talks to Jury in His Behalf.

Richmond County Courthouse, Rockingham, N. C., October 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—Confidence was stamped upon the features of W. B. Cole today as the jury that will decide his fate for the killing of W. W. Ormond, his daughter's former sweetheart, heard the concluding arguments in his trial.

The wealthy cotton manufacturer read letters while Omer L. Henry addressed the jury in his behalf.

Attacks on the prosecution of Cole, and counter-attacks on his defense, were waged through 11 hours of argument in the trial today.

Seven lawyers speak.

Five attorneys were heard today, and tonight two others addressed the jury.

"If this jury acquits this murderer, even a buzzard will hold its nose while flying above Richmond county," declared W. C. Douglas, Raleigh, the

PIRATES TAKE "Clean-Up" Drive To Be Waged Today For Atlanta Fund

Leaders Jubilant as Business Men Rally to Appeal for Fund to 'Sell Atlanta' to World.

BIG SUBSCRIPTIONS FEATURE OF DRIVE

$40,000 Is Needed From Team Workers, Chairman Candler States At Team Luncheon.

Today will be "clean-up day" in the $250,000 advertising fund campaign of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, and every worker in the "army" is urged by Chairman William Candler to bend every effort to round up all subscriptions possible.

"We need $40,000 from team workers, and the advance guard will stand good for the remainder," Mr. Candler said at yesterday's luncheon meeting. Total subscriptions reported Thursday afternoon were $197,000, leaving $53,000 to go toward the $250,000 goal. The campaigners do not intend stopping there, however, and express confidence that the fund will run well over the mark set.

Some of the largest subscriptions included Georgia Railway and Power company, $12,000; DeKalb county commissioners, $5,000; a friend of Atlanta, $1,200; Wofford Oil company, $1,200; Coca-Cola company, $5,000; the Keely company, $1,800.

Fulton County Aids.

Fulton county Thursday added another $12,000 to the forward Atlanta drive, when the finance committee of that body voted to subscribe $1,000 monthly to the fund beginning January 1 and continuing during the year of 1926. The committee held a short meeting at Fulton county courthouse, and this was the only matter brought before it.

Walter C. Carraway, international representative of the Atlanta Typographical union, turned in a subscription from the union for $50.

"No one will share more in proportion than the printers in any increased prosperity of Atlanta," he said. "We are glad to vote this amount from our fund. It doesn't represent dividends or business profits, but wages. It doesn't look big, but it's large in proportion to the earnings of the men who voted it."

This is to be not only clean-up day, but free lance, or wildcat day in the campaign for every worker is turned loose upon the city at large with the slogan: "Clean up, Atlanta!"

ATTACK COOLIDGE ON BREAD MERGER

President Declined to Answer Letter, Democratic Members of Trade Commission Declare.

Washington, October 8.—An attack on President Coolidge and Attorney General Starnes for the administration's attitude toward the $400,000,000 bread merger is made in a joint statement issued by the minority members of the federal trade commission, John F. Nugent and Huston Thompson, democrats.

They describe the merger as a "bread trust" which has been favored by federal immunity from the anti-trust laws. It was these two commissioners who referred to the complaint had been issued against the combine six months ago, without publicity.

In their statement, Commissioners Thompson and Nugent declare they wrote Coolidge on May 4, last, protesting against the action taken on the same day by the majority commissioners—Van Fleet, Humphrey and Hunt—in putting up to the president and the attorney general the determination of the commission's jurisdiction to investigate the alleged bread trust as ordered by congress.

"Five months have passed and no answer has been received by the commission either from the president or the attorney general," the statement charges.

"Not having received any reply either from the president or the attorney general, the commission, on June 29, 1925, submitted the same question of jurisdiction with respect to the bread merger to the attorney general and received a reply from him on July 29, the purport of which was that the manner of proceeding with these bread trusts was within the determination of the commission's judgment."

This reply, Thompson and Nugent point out, coincided with their views. Then followed, they say, notice from the budget bureau that the commission's budget would have to be cut, and that the bread trust was the one of the cut to be made in the economic division of the commission. "The one to which the investigation of the bread trust had been assigned."

The statement concluded: "In view of the fact that the majority of the commission refuses to proceed with the bread investigation authorized by the attorney general, it is difficult to say when, if at all, there will be any response made to the said senate resolution."

Husband Has Two Wives In Same Flat

Shows Favor To Pair Of Spouses On Alternate Days.

New York, October 8.—Two wives cooked and baked for Samuel Grossman under the same roof.

On alternate nights the fragrance of piping hot dishes in the kitchen of one found its way to the other where dinner had been waiting for many minutes, while neither of the women knew her husband, to whom she was legally married, was with the other.

Such is apartment house life in New York.

In Tombs court both wives told Magistrate Simpson how they had learned of the deception but recently. One night Samuel would take wife No. 1 to the movies, the next night wife No. 2 slipped gaily down the same stairs on her arm, bound for the same show.

The women never met. The name of a third woman also figures in the case. She was known as a "countess" at Grossman's summer home at Kennebunk, N. J., one of the wives said, and furnished bail for the alleged bigamist when he was arrested.

It was said that Grossman was called her "cave man" and that his delectable caperings attracted attention in the Jersey town.

The man's first marriage was to Mrs. Jeannette Grossman in 1911, while he took Mrs. Lillian Grossman as his wife in 1915.

Grossman was held for the grand jury.

INTELLIGENT USE OF VOTE IS URGED BY MRS. WALKER

Importance of Influence of Women in Politics Stressed by Wife of Governor.

Today's Calendar For Women Voters.

Morning session of the League of Women Voters at the Henry Grady hotel at 10 a. m.

Luncheon for the convention, Henry Grady hotel at 1 p. m. Subscription price, 75 cents.

Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock a tea for convention delegates is given at the Piedmont Driving club by the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs of which Mrs. Robert K. Rambo is president.

Friday evening an especially interesting session of the convention will be held at the Henry Grady hotel, at which Miss Jeannette Rankin, former United States congresswoman from Montana, and Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, Georgia state legislator from Bibb county, will speak.

An impassioned appeal by Mrs. Clifford Walker for intelligent use of the vote in Georgia, and a summary of activities of the National Association of the League of Women Voters by Mrs. Mary O. Cowper, regional director, were the outstanding events of the seventh annual convention of the Georgia League of Women Voters as it swung into action Thursday morning at the Henry Grady hotel.

The afternoon sessions were confined to reports of the standing committees. Dr. Preston Brooks, of the University of Georgia, well-known authority on political science, made a comprehensive survey of needed reform in the state legislature at the brilliant banquet which closed the day's activities. Mrs. R. K. Rambo, president of the City Federation of Women's clubs, presided. E. Fort Land, state superintendent of schools, spoke on "Education."

Miss Jeannette Rankin, former United States congresswoman from Montana, and Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, Georgia state legislator from Bibb county, will be the principal speakers at tonight's session.

"My soul cries across the convention," Mrs. Napier said.

MRS. ARMOR HEAD OF STATE W. C. T. U.

Contest Between Macon and Atlanta For State Headquarters In Hands Of Executive Board.

Macon, Ga., October 8.—(AP)—The reelection of officers of the Georgia chapter, W. C. T. U., took place at the morning session today. Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, Eastman, was reelected president; Mrs. Marvin Williams, Atlanta, vice president; Mrs. W. G. Cotton, Columbus, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. A. Dillard, Emory university, recording secretary; Miss Josephine Hammond, Monroe, treasurer.

Mrs. Betty R. Cobb, Carrollton, president of the Carrollton W. C. T. U. chapter, was elected legal adviser for the state organization. This is a new office created at this session.

A contest is on between Macon and Atlanta to secure the headquarters for the Georgia W. C. T. U. The association has left this matter in the hands of the executive board and it is expected that it will not be settled before Friday.

The convention received a dispatch from Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, stating that official business in Washington prevented her appearance before the convention at the session tonight.

Miss Nellie G. Burger, president of the Missouri W. C. T. U., who spoke Wednesday night, remained in Macon, and filled the vacancy left in the program by Mrs. Willebrandt's absence, while the main speech tonight was by Mrs. Maude B. Perkins, East Syracuse, N. Y., national head of the W. C. T. U., young people's department.

The whole tenor of the convention speakers has been for strict law enforcement and the encouragement of total abstinence, and Mrs. Perkins' speech was in keeping with the rest.

Delegates to the national convention to be held in Detroit November 11-18, elected today are: Mrs. D. A. Warlick, Macon; Mrs. W. C. Davidson, White Plains; Mrs. N. C. McPherson, Atlanta; Mrs. L. E. Burns, Atlanta; Mrs. O. L. Taylor, Atlanta; Mrs. W. A. Sumter, Atlanta; Mrs. P. D. Christian, Atlanta.

Besides the elected delegates the following officers go in ex-officio capacity: Mrs. Armor, Mrs. Marvin Williams, Atlanta, and Mrs. Lella A. Dillard, Emory university.

1,065,000 BALE COTTON YIELD SEEN IN STATE

869,657 Bales Ginned in State on First Day of Month—6 Per Cent Larger Yield Than 1924.

The official October cotton report, issued Thursday through the Georgia cooperative crop reporting service, forecasts a crop of 1,065,000 bales for Georgia, the estimated yield being approximately 6 per cent larger than the 1925 final output, and "considerably above production for any other year since 1920."

The estimate as of October 1 shows an increase of 46,000 bales for the state over the report on September 16, and 82,000 bales over the government estimate as of September 1.

The report estimates the indicated yield per acre for Georgia at 143 pounds, as compared with the final estimated yield last year of 137 pounds.

In 1924, Georgia produced 1,004,000 bales of 500-pound gross weight; in 1923, 588,000; 1922, 715,000; 1921, 787,000, and in 1920, 1,415,000, according to the report.

Burke Probably To Lead.

The report declares that present indications show that Burke county will probably lead all counties in the state in the total production this season, with Carroll, Bulloch and Laurens about on even basis for second place. Counties producing 20,000 or more bales are Sumter, Terrell, Dodge, Screven, Colquitt, Randolph, Mitchell and Jefferson.

"As harvesting progressed," says the report, "it became apparent that the crop was turning out better than was expected earlier in the season. Although very low yields were realized in about 30 counties, most seriously affected by the protracted drought in northern Georgia, the splendid crop in southern counties offset this to a great extent, bringing the state average yield per acre to within 14 pounds of the final estimated yield for 1924."

Acres Is Larger.

"Practically all parts of the state have a much larger acreage in cotton this year, making the production comparison with last year more favorable."

The report shows that "very favorable weather" prevailed for harvesting during the period from September 19 to October 1, and 85 to 90 per cent of the crop was picked by the crop report date—October 1.

The census bureau shows 869,657 bales ginned from the crop of 1925 prior to October 1, compared with 394,330 for the same period last year.

GOVERNMENT ESTIMATE IS 14,759,000 BALES.

Washington, October 8.—(AP)—An indicated total production this year of 14,759,000 equivalent 500-pound bales of cotton of which 7,101,710 running bales, counting round as half bales had been ginned prior to October 1, compared with 3,943,330 for the same period last year.

Three Killed, Forty Injured In Gas Blast

Ammonia Tank Explosion Shakes Heart of St. Louis.

St. Louis, October 8.—The death toll of a terrific explosion that enveloped the 10-story Laclede Gas Light building in the downtown business district here late today, stood at five tonight after the ruins of the first floor and basement had been carefully searched.

The list of injured who received hospital treatment stood at 40, seven of whom were in a serious condition. The number of persons cut by falling debris, overcome by ammonia fumes and otherwise slightly hurt in the confusion police estimated at 40 more.

The dead: Mrs. Anna Stoll, 55, a widow.

Carl Brewer, engineer; Armin Margardt, maintenance employee.

Officials of the company were still at a loss to account for the exact cause of the explosion. Bursting ammonia tanks in the basement spread the ruin but what caused them to explode was unexplained.

Likewise the firm's officials were temporarily unable to estimate the damage from the blast, the fire which followed and the streams of water played upon the flames.

The explosion and fire caused great excitement. Vast crowds gathered on the streets and traffic in all directions

Thousands Attend Colorful Opening Of Lakewood Fair

Greatest Array Of Exhibits Ever Collected In South Is Seen By Biggest First-Day Crowd.

RACING PROGRAM TO BEGIN TODAY

Visitors to Horse Show At Night Prove Even Greater Than the Day-time Assemblage.

All in readiness for what promises to be the most successful season in its history the Southeastern fair gates were thrown open Thursday to an enthusiastic crowd of visitors with virtually every exhibit in place, with the big Rubin and Cherry midway up and open in full blast and with the greatest array of exhibits and displays of their kind ever offered here. These features coupled with the most elaborate and most expensive program of free acts round out an exposition that won the unqualified approval of the crowds that thronged through the turnstiles on opening day.

Despite the rain, which fell for a short period Thursday night the opening day was successful fully up to all expectations of the fair management, according to R. M. Striplin, secretary, and all indications point to the shattering of all previous attendance records.

Exhibits Are Ready.

When the gates were opened at 8 o'clock Thursday morning the fair was complete and ready, a higher percentage of exhibits and displays being installed than on any previous opening day. The cattle barns, poultry hall and live stock exhibits; the automobile show, the flower show, the displays of agricultural products; the machinery exhibits and all the other outstanding features of the fair exceeded even the high standard set in previous years.

Because of the rain the horse show and the exhibition by the troop of United States cavalry were not held Thursday night, but the rest of the program was carried out in every detail.

This year the grand circuit races have returned to Atlanta and will form one of the biggest cards at the fair. The cavalry drills also will be offered for the first time and with the engagement of the Ernie Young revue, famous Chicago musical comedy, for the week of October 12 as the feature attraction of the night program the fair will offer the most pretentious entertainment program in its history.

The live stock exhibit has drawn entries from all sections of the country, from as far north as New York and as far west as Arizona.

The State College of Agriculture, and the department of agriculture of the United States government, have bent their efforts towards production of a great agricultural display, and these, together with the individual exhibitors, have made the exhibit a wonderful one. A boys' fair school is being operated in conjunction with this display by the state college to acquaint boys with scientific methods of agriculture.

The display of automobiles is the greatest, with the exception of one year, ever offered to patrons of the fair.

The liberal arts building contains

VENDETTA MAKES LAST APPEARANCE

Double Horse Show Program to Be Offered at Lakewood Tonight Because of Rain Thursday.

The opening program of Atlanta's brilliant horse show at Lakewood, which was rained out Thursday night will be combined with the second program tonight, according to an announcement from Holland B. Jenkins, chairman of the committee in charge.

None of the events scheduled for the opening night will be cancelled. It was said, the only change in plans being that the show tonight will start at 7 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock as was originally planned and because of the doubling up will last a little longer.

The feature of the second program tonight will be the appearance of Vendetta, the champion five-gaited mare owned by Frank Adair in an exhibition. Vendetta carried off top honors in the show recently held at Louisville, and for that reason Mr. Adair refused to allow his star mount to compete for prizes in the Atlanta show. However, he readily consented for Vendetta to appear in the exhibition, which will be her last appearance this year.

The Adair mount is recognized as the champion of all champions for

BOND PROPOSALS TO BE CONSIDERED BY COUNCIL BODY

Special Committee to Discuss Issues Ranging From $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 Tonight.

Consolidated bond issues ranging from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 will be submitted to the special bond committee of council which will meet at city hall at 7 o'clock tonight to consider recommendations to be submitted to council at its next session.

Mayor Walter A. Sims favors the $5,000,000 bond issue for emergency needs while the $10,000,000 proposal will be submitted by Councilman W. E. Saunders of the twelfth ward. Other members of the committee have proposals they will place before the committee Friday night calling for various totals between the figures of the mayor and those of Councilman Saunders.

Emergency Needs.

Under the mayor's plan the $5,000,000 will take care of the emergency needs.

"The most crying need of the sewer department at this time is the removal of the Peachtree disposal plant to a point near the Chattahoochee river," Mayor Sims said. "I estimate that $2,500,000 will take care of this situation. This sum will provide for removal of the disposal plant and also for trunk sewers to connect the plant with the Ansel park and Druid Hills section. As this improvement is to be made in territory lying outside the city limits I feel the county should bear half this burden which will leave $1,250,000 to be raised from a bond issue. Other urgent sewer needs can be handled with current revenues."

For schools the mayor will favor $2,000,000 at this time.

"With two million dollars we can build a new girls' high school, a new boys' high school and six or seven grammar schools," he said. "We gave the schools $600,000 for building purposes last year and with the school building needs covered by a bond issue we can use this money for interest and sinking fund."

$1,500,000 for City Hall.

The mayor favors $1,500,000 for a new city hall and believes that a new site should be obtained for the Battle Hill tuberculosis sanatorium before bonds are issued for that institution.

"It will take two years to spend this money and by that time if we find we need more money we can issue more bonds," the mayor said. "We can take care of the increased bonds out of increased revenues of the city."

Councilman Saunders' $10,000,000 includes the following: Schools, $4,000,000; Battle Hill sanatorium, $300,000; city hall, $2,000,000; sewers, $2,000,000 and bonds $700,000.

"We have a bonding capacity now of approximately $13,000,000 and I feel that a bond issue of $10,000,000 will be favored by the people of Atlanta at this time. I shall submit this to the special committee and I think the committee should get together on some kind of a plan and let council vote on it."

Alderman W. B. Duvall, chairman of the special bond committee, will preside at the executive session.

'Doughboy' Still Remains Chief Fighting Unit in War, European Maneuvers Prove

Next War, If Any, Will Be Decided Finally By Infantry, Tacticians Decide After Study.

(Editor's Note: Many European nations have just concluded the first big scale army maneuvers since the war. From these war games, observers have determined the role of man, beast and machine in future wars. The conclusions reached are surprising. In this, the first of a series of three stories, Charles M. McCann, of the United News-London bureau, explains why the infantryman remains supreme as an army's chief fighting unit.)

BY CHARLES M. McCANN.

United News Staff Correspondent.

London, October 8.—The man with a pack on his back and a rifle, hobnailed shoes and a weary grin still is supreme as the primary fighting unit of an army. The next war, if any, will be decided finally by the infantry, the tacticians and strategists of Europe have decided, after studying the first big scale army maneuvers in the old world since the war.

Airplanes will deal death with bombs and machine guns in the next war. Charging tanks will spit flame and steel, but the war will be won or lost, as all wars in history have been won or lost, on the ground and by personal combat between man and man.

Busy Preparing Reports.

Half the countries of Europe have just concluded their first major maneuvers in nearly a decade. Military attaches representing every civilized country observed the mimic wars, and now are busy writing their reports for their respective war departments. They are writing about the foot slogger.

The consensus of these reports, it is learned authoritatively, will be this: Man, mounted on his own legs and fighting with his individual weapons, remains the ultimate force in time of war. This does not mean that military development has reached its apex. Development is unceasing, especially in the field of planes and tanks. The maneuvers demonstrated the growing value of mobility by means of tanks, armored cars, airplanes and cavalry. But all this simply emphasized the value of infantry and cavalry.

Trucks and Cars Spectacular.

Some of the most spectacular work in the maneuvers was by trucks and armored cars—trucks carrying infantry and horses at 30 miles an hour to the front, armored cars careening along at 50 miles an hour in sudden raids on enemy country. It looked marvelously efficient.

But, military experts say the maneuvers exploded the theories of trucks as a means of infantry and cavalry transport near the front, and of the armored car as a competent raiding weapon. Armored cars and trucks, it is explained, must stick to the roads. Artillery fire soon makes rapid transportation over the war zone roads impossible. Airplanes could blow off the roads every troop-laden truck or speeding car within miles of the front. Not even in darkness would such vehicles find protection, for flare-bombs have been devised with which to illuminate vast areas.

Back to Old Warfare.

"It brings us back to the old warfare," a United News informant said. "The maneuvers proved that movement of horses and men must be in open country, off the roads, where they can scatter and take cover—where trucks and cars cannot go. We must go forward, trench warfare is losing warfare. The man who gets forward wins. The man gets forward who can get off the roads, take cover and move rapidly across open spaces. Only infantry and cavalry can do it."

ANDERSON GIVEN SENTENCE TO PEN

The Atlanta federal penitentiary Thursday got its first recruit from the October term of the United States court for the northern district of Georgia, when Judge Samuel H. Sibley sentenced M. B. Anderson, of Lumpkin county, to serve a year and a day at the prison.

This was the second time Anderson has faced the court charged with violation of the national prohibition laws. His trial was slated for October 5, but he failed to appear and a bench warrant for his arrest was issued.

Under the law, the first breach of the prohibition law is regarded as a misdemeanor, but the second becomes a felony.

K. A. Burt, of Dawson county, was sentenced to serve three months in jail when he was convicted for violation of the national anti-rum laws, and Mrs. F. E. Nash, of Fulton county, was placed on probation after entering a plea of guilty to violation of the Harrison narcotic law. She is to report monthly to Thomas E. Middlebrooks, chief narcotic agent of the Atlanta district, during the time of the probationary period.

Will Hood, of Fayette county, was the only defendant to face the court Thursday who escaped a penalty. A jury freed him after he entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of making and possessing liquor.

PLANS INSTITUTED TO ISSUE CHARTER TO CREDIT UNION

Preliminary steps toward issuing a charter to the Atlanta postal clerks as a credit union organization were taken Thursday by S. G. McLendon, secretary of state, though he announced that the charter will not be turned over to the clerks until he is fully satisfied that he has the proper authority to issue the document.

Attorney General George M. Napier Wednesday ruled that Mr. McLendon has authority to issue the charter on the ground that a credit union has broad banking powers and can be classified as a banking company, though leaving the matter open to doubt.

Mr. McLendon said Thursday that he intends carrying out his plans of conferring with banking attorneys before issuing the charter, and that it will be several days before he reaches a final decision in the matter.

GOVERNMENT CHECK FORGERY CHARGED TO LONNIE MACKEY

Lonnie Mackey, 22, Thursday was held under $500 bond for Louisiana authorities on charges of forging a government check. He is said to have forged the name of his wife to the paper and to have obtained the funds. When arraigned, Mackey told the court that he was forced to marry by his brother-in-law, and that he thought he had a right to sign his wife's name to the check although he claimed he never had lived with her. He said the marriage took place several months ago in Louisiana.

Copies of Land Grants Along Florida Border Now in Great Demand

Requests for certified copies of land grants along the Florida border of Georgia during the past few months have greatly exceeded similar petitions during any other time in a number of years, S. G. McLendon, secretary of state, said Thursday.

This indicates that there is a big land boom on in south Georgia, and that Georgia already is securing benefit from the Florida boom, he stated.

Mr. McLendon said that his office has been kept busy issuing certified copies of land grants, and that sometimes a dozen or more requests for copies have been received in one day's mail. The reason for wanting certified copies is to secure a clear title to land back to the days of the original state grant.

GOVERNOR TO ATTEND WORLD SERIES GAMES

Governor Clifford Walker Thursday morning returned to Atlanta from Savannah and left at noon for Washington, where he will attend the world's series, as well as arrange with the war department for distribution of world war trophies in Georgia in time for dedication on Armistice day. He also will confer with national Red Cross officials relative to relief measures for drought stricken northeast Georgia.

TOOLS ARE STOLEN FROM DAVIS HOME

E. S. Davis, of Buckhead, Thursday reported to police that a thief had entered his house and stolen tools valued at $25. A new cash register was found Thursday by police near a sewer at the corner of Butler street and Edgewood avenue.

Rubber Growers To Be Guaranteed 36 Cents a Pound

Declaring that the Rubber Association of America, of which he is a member, already has under consideration a plan to guarantee rubber growers of the world a minimum price of 36 cents a pound for their entire output in the event the British government fails to modify or lift restrictions it has placed about colonies of the English empire, M. F. O'Neil, president of the General Tire company, Thursday arrived in Atlanta to attend the annual convention of dealers of the southeast, who handle products of the company.

Mr. O'Neil declared that the high price set on the product by the British has caused a heavy loss of American manufacturers and brought about a shortage in the material, thus forcing some protective action. The plan which has been submitted to a committee of the rubber association calls for the guarantee of 36 cents a pound for the product of new rubber plantations not under control of Britain.

He said the association plans to guarantee this price, and if rubber advances in the meantime, growers will be given the market price for their product. The English restriction has held rubber at 36 cents a pound although the supply has been greater than the demand for the last several years, he said.

More than 175 dealers from the southeastern territory were in Atlanta Thursday to attend the two-day business session of the company. They exchanged ideas and planned the work of the new year. Thursday night the tenth annual banquet of the dealers was held at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel. A luncheon preceded the opening of the convention in the afternoon. The meeting will adjourn about noon today after several addresses by leading officials.

Mr. O'Neil stated that although this is not the tenth meeting of the dealers, it is the tenth meeting of the dealers. Formerly all meetings were held at the factory at Akron, Ohio, but the number of dealers has increased until sectional meetings are now necessary.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGED TO TWO IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Cases of reckless driving were made against Mrs. A. L. Clements, 45, of Easton and Sol Cohen, 21, of 306 Richardson street, following an automobile accident Thursday night at Pryor and Hunter streets. Mrs. Clements was driving west on Hunter and her machine collided with the car driven by Cohen, according to police. Both cars were slightly damaged but no one was injured. The accident was investigated by Call Officers G. E. Williams and G. H. Crankshaw.

Street Car Hits Truck.

A truck belonging to a local music house was struck by a street car at the corner of North Forsyth and Poplar street Thursday night. Two pianos on the truck were thrown to the pavement. The truck was slightly damaged.

A. L. Howard, negro driver, of 308 Magnolia street, and J. H. Matthews, negro, of 183 Maple street, were not hurt.

H. H. TUCKER IS DEAD AFTER FALL TO STREET

Funeral services for H. H. Tucker, 70, well-known Atlantan, who died Thursday morning at a local hospital from injuries received late Tuesday night while walking across Ponders avenue, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, with Dr. Carter Helms Jones, pastor of Second Baptist church, officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mr. Tucker resided at 22 Home Park avenue and was returning to his home Tuesday night after a stroll when he was seen to fall to the pavement while crossing Ponders avenue. A number of persons who witnessed the fall told Grady hospital physicians that the aged man stooped over to the street as if to pick up something, falling heavily on his head. An ambulance was summoned at once and he was carried to the hospital where examination disclosed that his skull was fractured and that he was otherwise bruised about the head and shoulders.

Mr. Tucker was the son of the late Dr. Henry Holcombe Tucker, eminent divine, and first president of Mercer university. He was graduated from the University of Georgia and after leaving school took up the practice of law. He accumulated valuable property in the business of Atlanta which he held at the time of his death. He was a member of the Second Baptist church. The aged man for many years had a particular fondness for long walks, frequently walking several miles each day. He was one of these strolls that he fell and received injuries from which he died early Thursday morning.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Hunter P. Cooper, and a nephew, Hunter P. Cooper, Jr., of 1087 Peachtree street.

"DAWN OF LIGHT" WARMLY PRAISED BY HIGH MASONS

"I hope every Mason in the state of Georgia will see this play," commented Guy L. Thurman, former grand lecturer, Grand Lodge of Georgia, after witnessing the "Dawn of Light." "It's the best show I have ever seen and I will be glad to recommend it to Masons of the state."

Many prominent people who have seen the play now appearing at the Atlanta theater have been enthusiastic in their praise. Among them is Colonel William Lawson Peel, who declared that it was one of the best shows of its kind he had ever seen. "The acting is excellent, the story is good and the scenic effects beautiful," added Colonel Peel. "The play merits the support of theatergoers."

Dr. J. D. Hamrick, grand master of Masons in Georgia, and a large party from his home town in Carrollton were interested visitors Thursday night. According to the management the attendance has increased with every performance. "We have advertised 'money back if not satisfied,'" said the business manager, "and although thousands have seen the show not a one has requested his money back."

The play will continue all this week at the Atlanta with matinee Saturday.

HOWARD PROLOGUE GIVEN AT JUNIOR CHAMBER MEETING

"Snowbound," musical prologue to Charlie Chaplin's motion picture, "The Gold Rush," the Howard theater this week was presented at a luncheon of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday by Jan Rubin, musical director of the Howard, and Lelroy Printz, stage director.

Charles G. Branham, general manager of the Howard, and the entire cast of the prologue were guests of the junior chamber at luncheon in the chamber of commerce building.

The meeting was confined solely to entertainment. Ed Robertson gave an imitation of Charlie Chaplin, and moustaches of the Chaplin type were distributed among the Jay Cees. George Yancy presided.

GIVEN RESPITE, TANNER CHARGED WITH MAKING RUM

Carl Tanner, 18, youthful shiner who Tuesday was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail for violation of the national prohibition laws and given a 10-day respite in order to "wind up his business affairs," is again in the toils of the law. He is held in Fulton tower in default of a $1,000 bond which United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter assessed Thursday.

When Tanner asked Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the United States court, to grant him 10 days to wind up his affairs, Judge Sibley did not give him permission to wind up his distilling operations, prohibition agents charge. Tanner was released Wednesday afternoon and Thursday Agents Alfred Wallace and Bell found him making rum, they claim. He was haled before Commissioner Ledbetter.

All this happened in less than 36 hours. And now Tanner will serve the 30-day jail term, and then face Judge Sibley again for violation of the prohibition laws. This time the bill of complaint will charge him with a felony instead of a misdemeanor because it is his second alleged offense.

"An Empty Gesture and a Troubled Peace!"

IN THESE WORDS the Philadelphia Public Ledger sums up the result of the French debt parley in Washington, and the brilliant French journalist, Stephane Lauzanne, picturesquely characterizes it in this phrase:

"Once more in the history of the world a ship has sunk with startling suddenness when everyone thought she was entering the port."

The New York Daily News says that in asking the French to pay a total sum, interest and principal, amounting to nine billions when they were only prepared to offer six billions—"we might as well have asked to have the Eiffel Tower sent by parcel post!"

The Macon Telegraph deplores the temporary settlement, because it "has opened the way for a barrage of Congressional wisdom which will further complicate matters and make a permanent settlement all the more remote."

While the failure of the French and American commissions to come to an understanding strikes many newspapers as an event much to be regretted there are other newspapers which incline for the most part toward the optimistic.

"Each side has received from the conversations in Washington a better understanding of the other's views," says the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Read "The Literary Digest" this week, the October 10th number, for a comprehensive story of the debt parley, with American newspaper opinion upon the outcome.

"What Is Wrong With the Navy Department?"

Why has the American Navy, under peace conditions, lost more than twice as many ships in the last four and a half years than it lost during the entire period of our war with Germany? Between October, 1917, and October, 1918, when every ship was in active service and exposed to the dangers of mine and submarine, we lost five vessels—one converted yacht, one torpedo boat, one cruiser, one coast-guard cutter, and one collier. In striking contrast stand our peacetime losses, which total twelve ships—three submarines, seven destroyers, one naval tug and one training ship—since April, 1921.

These startling figures, cited by the New York World, do not include the loss of the naval airship "Shenandoah."

The press throughout the country is commenting upon the recent naval disasters in no uncertain tone as is shown in the summary of press opinion printed in "The Literary Digest" this week, October 10th number.

"It would almost seem as tho some ominous cloud hung over the Navy Department bent on its annihilation," says the New Haven Register. Public opinion upon the recent naval tragedies is accurately reflected in this article in "The Literary Digest" this week.

PROTESTS SLIGHT ON APPOINTMENTS

Washington, October 8.—Rumors of dissension are stirring in prohibition enforcement headquarters.

Approximately one-fourth of the 2,500 agents are to be dropped on October 15, together with several hundred clerks.

On top of this announcement came a protest Thursday from Senator J. W. Harrell, of Oklahoma, republican, that he is not being consulted by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, on appointments or removals in the dry enforcement unit of his state. Harrell insists that he be given this political patronage.

Harrell addressed a letter to Andrews, in which he said:

"It will be impossible to keep peace in the republican party in Oklahoma unless Senator Pine and myself are consulted about these appointments and removals, and I feel it but fair to say to you in advance that we shall expect this courtesy from your department."

The controversy between the Oklahoma senators and Andrews was started by the action of Director White, of Fort Worth, Texas, in asking the resignation of the Rev. Thoroughman, of Lawton, Okla., a prohibition agent of long standing. Lawton churches condemned White's demand that Thoroughman go.

Thoroughman's resignation has caused a furore, and Harrell has been charged with the responsibility, which he declares he will not assume.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creosote, an emulsified creosote that is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creosote contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creosol is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory disease. And is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. ## Security Meet To Settle Terms In Private Parley

Locarno, Switzerland, October 8.—Confronted with stubborn German resistance to the two remaining unapproved clauses of the proposed Rhine security pact, the Locarno conference has adjourned until Saturday to permit the chief negotiators to seek a settlement through private discussion.

Full agreement having been reached on nine of the eleven articles of the pact, the conferees devoted three hours to discussion of the disputed articles Thursday. It was the longest and most important session of the conference to date. The conferees discussed Germany's entrance into the League of Nations. This subject and the proposed arbitration treaties between Germany and Poland and Czechoslovakia, respectively, are the matters upon which agreement will be sought in private negotiations. The success or failure of the conference depends entirely upon the ability of the delegates to find common ground in these two respects.

Aristide Briand, the French foreign minister, warmly supported by Austen Chamberlain, representing Great Britain, made a lengthy address Thursday explaining that Germany must enter the league on the same basis as other countries—without reservations or exemptions. Briand detailed the exchange of notes between Germany and the allies on this subject. He would have a permanent seat on the league council, where unanimous decisions always are necessary. Germany thus, Briand said, would be in a position to prevent encroachments upon her sovereignty under Article 16 of the League of Nations covenant.

Foreign Minister Stresemann and Chamberlain, representing Germany, replied that Germany desired to enter the League of Nations, but that it would be necessary to find a formula acceptable to the German people.

The conference thereupon decided not to meet Friday in order to give the various statesmen an opportunity to get together privately to find a solution of the problem which it is hoped to adopt at one of the two sessions which will occur Saturday.

If such agreement is reached, the disputed question of arbitration treaties with Germany's eastern neighbors would come before the conference Monday. But Foreign Minister Benes of Czechoslovakia and Foreign Minister Skrzyski of Poland, would participate in the Monday meeting. In the meantime, it is hoped that private conversations by the Poles, Czechs and the Germans will have largely solved the problems involved in the arbitration treaties. Skrzyski and Stresemann will meet this end Friday afternoon.

In the event of agreement being reached on the Rhine pact, the conference plans to adjourn about Wednesday to reconvene later for simultaneous signing of all the records.

GOVERNORS URGED TO SEEK REPEAL OF ESTATES TAX

Letters to governors of 28 states, urging that they act before the ways and means committee of congress on October 23 to seek repeal of the federal inheritance tax act, have been mailed by Governor Clifford Walker, it was announced Thursday.

These letters were written at the request of the Georgia Country Bankers' association.

was stopped. Twenty-one fire companies responded to a general alarm. Blast Stopped Clock.

The clock over the cashier's cage on the first floor, directly above the point of the explosion, stopped at 2:05 p. m., indicating the exact time of the blast. It was in the cashier's cage that the body of Mrs. Stoll was found. The other dead were in the basement.

Stifling ammonia fumes soon filled the building, choking both the escaping employees and firemen and policemen.

Pavement Torn Up.

So severe was the detonation that windows for a block around were shattered and a section of concrete pavement was torn up.

Company officials said the explosion apparently was caused by an expansion of ammonia fumes in pipes leading to a refrigerating plant in the basement of the building. A freight elevator led from that part of the basement to the top floor. It was believed that the force of the explosion jarred one of the boilers of the heating plant, causing a burst of flames to shoot up the freight elevator.

The fire was confined chiefly to the tenth floor. The blast virtually wrecked the first floor.

TWO FINED $100 EACH ON GAMBLING CHARGE

George Morris and Max Flexner, alleged gamblers, who were arrested recently when attaches of Solicitor John Boykin's office raided the home of "Peacemaker" Williams, at 150 Waverly way, Thursday were fined $100 each, when they entered pleas of guilty before Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court.

George Davis, negro, was sentenced to serve from 10 to 20 years on Fulton county chain gang after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of robbing the home of Willie Rhodes of a quantity of clothing. He was tried before Judge John Humphries.

NO WILL WAS LEFT BY CHARLES E. JAMES

Chattanooga, October 8.—Charles E. James, president of the Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia railway, and one of the wealthiest men of this section of the state, being head of the Signal Mountain company and interested in other large industrial developments in this section, who died a few days ago, did not leave a will, Ill. son, Webster James, qualified as executor today.

No schedule of the value of the estate was filed, but it is regarded as one of the largest estates in this section. Under his will, his executors and distribution of Tennessee the son and widow of Mr. James will inherit all of his estate in the absence of a will.

CLEAN-UP DRIVE IN CAMPAIGN TODAY

out respect to prospect cards or territorial lines, it was said.

"Land every subscription you can," urged Chairman Candler. "Clean up your unfinished business first, and then go after everybody you see."

A list of 8,000 prospects was posted on the wall at headquarters and the force of volunteers Thursday night checked off every name representing a subscription, leaving the others open for solicitation today.

The final luncheon of the drive will be held today at 12:30 o'clock, when it is hoped the campaign will go over the top. If it does not, the drive will be asked to finish the job. It is estimated that a third of the prospects have not been seen, owing to the fact that the drive is being conducted in a haphazard manner.

At the beginning of the campaign the advance guard committee, under Chairman John E. Allen, granted to raise $100,000 to match the first $100,000 raised by the team workers. Mr. Allen reported Thursday that the advance guard had secured $100,000 in subscriptions from a comparatively small list of business enterprises which he made public contributions.

Expenditure Plans.

L. T. Y. Nash, DeKalb county commissioner, has been added to the commission of business men which will supervise the investment of Atlanta's $250,000 advertising fund. It was announced by Chairman Candler. His appointment was coupled with the announcement that DeKalb county had voted $5,000 to the fund.

"That was in recognition of the fact that Atlanta expects to advertise Stone Mountain heavily," said Mr. Candler, "and because the DeKalb county citizens feel as deep an interest in Atlanta's prosperity as those of Fulton county."

The commission will pass upon an advertising campaign submitted by a board of accredited advertising agencies in Atlanta is now complete, as follows: Radio, Frank Adams; Retail Merchants' association; Frank Neely; Merchants and Manufacturers' association; J. K. Oyer; Chamber of Commerce; John K. Orlin; Fulton County commission; Virgil B. Moore; DeKalb County commission; L. T. Y. Nash; Federation of Chambers of Commerce; City council; A. J. ## COLE IS CONFIDENT AS TRIAL CLOSES oldest man, in years, among prosecution counsel.

"Every man on this jury would have done the same thing Cole did," answered John C. Vann, Monroe, for the defense.

The speeches drew another capacity audience to the court house, and the attendants seemed to increase in number as the case neared the jury room. Twelve attorneys have addressed the jury during 23 hours of argument.

There are five other attorneys, and then Judge T. B. Finley's charge to the jury will be delivered.

Douglas Takes Offensive.

Every phase of the evidence, and every declaration of counsel ran the gamut of legal scrutiny today. In the address of W. C. Douglas, a 75-year-old man of surprising vitality, the prosecution assumed the offensive for the first time.

"Like a partridge," Mr. Douglas said, in describing James A. Pou, of Raleigh, chief of defense counsel, "like a partridge which flutters its wings and attempts to draw the hunter away from his nest, so General Pou flutters his wings attempting to draw the jury away from the rottenness of the murderer."

Mr. Pou was absent when the remark was made. When he returned and took a seat near the witness stand, Mr. Douglas paused to tell him of his remark. When he had concluded, Mr. Pou offered him a throat tablet and the battle passed into other hands.

Sees Cole as Protecting Home.

"The state has charged that Cole threw his daughter into the breach," declared Omer L. Henry, for the defense. "And it is Cole who has dragged her into the breach. He pictured the accused man a protector of his home."

The letters that passed between Ormond and Cole were read, re-read and interpreted by each speaker, as counsel for each side drew tighter on the reins of their conclusions. On several occasions, jurors were visibly affected, on other occasions members of the audience and of the Cole and Ormond families gave way to their emotions.

The defendant's attitude varied from one of marked attention to his counsel to one of nervous restlessness as his prosecutors. Several times he whispered with attorneys. During recess of the court, he joined his family immediately behind the defense table.

The Rev. A. L. Ormond, whose son Cole shot and killed, sat silently throughout the day. At his side were his two daughters, Misses Myra and Ophelia Ormond.

$12,000,000 DEAL IN COTTON CLOSED

Little Rock, Ark., October 8.—(AP)—A giant merger of cotton companies, involving 35 plants in six states, valued at more than $12,000,000 has been consummated, it became known here when a copy of the charter of the Federal Warehouse and Compress company, a Delaware corporation, was filed with the secretary of state by C. A. Cunningham, of Blytheville, attorney for six Arkansas compress companies interested in the merger.

The parent corporation, the federal warehouse and compress company, is capitalized at $25,000,000 of which $15,000,000 is preferred stock and $10,000,000 common stock. The administrative office of the corporation will be in Memphis with W. L. Taylor in charge as general manager.

The consolidation program has been under way for more than two months. Some of the largest compresses in Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana, Missouri, Mississippi and Oklahoma are included in the merger. Each company will retain its individual status but stockholders will surrender their original stock and receive instead stock in the new corporation.

1,065,000 BALES OF COTTON FORECAST

her 1, was announced today in the consolidated cotton report of the department of agriculture and the census bureau.

The indicated production a fortnight ago was placed at 13,931,000 bales. Last year's crop totaled 13,627,936 bales.

Reports from every part of the cotton belt, embracing all factors as of October 1 indicate a probable yield of 15,200 pounds of lint cotton per acre as compared with 14,355 pounds on September 1, and a final estimate for the 1924-25 season of 15,200 pounds per acre.

The crop reporting board did not issue figures showing the condition of cotton on October 1 in percentage of normal.

Comment of Crop Board.

The crop reporting board made the following comment:

"Reports unit in indicating a larger cotton production in most of the cotton belt, embracing all factors as of October 1 indicate a probable yield of 15,200 pounds of lint cotton per acre as compared with 14,355 pounds on September 1, and a final estimate for the 1924-25 season of 15,200 pounds per acre."

"The chief cause of the improved prospect is that September rains have revived drought-stricken plants to an unexpected extent, especially in regions west of the Atlantic states. This rain has even begun to revive plants that had been regarded as hopelessly dead. Since rains broke the drought in Texas, a considerable cotton acreage has been revived and will be picked. Pickings are indicating better yields than was expected two weeks ago."

The estimated production by states follows:

State	Oct. 1, 1925	Sept. 1, 1925	Sept. 1, 1924	Final

7,101,710 BALES GINNED PRIOR TO OCTOBER 1

Washington, October 8.—(AP)—The number of bales of cotton ginned from October 1, 1925, to September 30, 1924, was 7,101,710.

growth prior to October 1 was 7,101,710 running bales, counting round as half bales and excluding linters, compared with 4,527,085 to that date in 1924.

These countries, the total of latest forecast amounts to 17,645,000 against an estimated production last year of 15,929,000 bales, the department reported.

REPORT SHOWS JUMP IN FOREIGN PRODUCTION.

Washington, October 8.—(AP)—Some increased production of cotton in foreign countries this year over last year is indicated in reports received, the department of agriculture announced today in a world cotton review.

Latest forecasts of production in Egypt, Russia, China, Lower California and the Laguna district of Mexico, the department said, total 2,886,000 bales compared with the estimated yield last year of 2,301,000 bales.

There are five other countries, and then Judge T. B. Finley's charge to the jury will be delivered.

MACKIE IS GIVEN 11-YEAR SENTENCE IN SWACK KILLING

Cookville Tenn., October 8.—(AP)—Dillard Mackie, charged with the murder of John Swack, was given a sentence of eleven years in the state penitentiary by a jury in the circuit court today. His father, Tim Mackie, on trial with him, was acquitted. Dillard Mackie admitted that he shot and killed Swack and with his father's help, buried the body in a shallow grave where three weeks later it was discovered by searchers, but claimed self-defense. Swack two days before the tragedy, had seriously cut Andy Mackie, Dillard Mackie's brother.

Hotel Clerks' Club To Elect Officers At Meeting Today

The monthly meeting of the Atlanta Hotel Clerks' club will be held at noon today at the Biltmore hotel. Two new officers are to be elected as the result of resignations of J. B. Matthews, of the Cecil hotel as second vice president, and E. A. Schwarz, of the Biltmore as third vice president.

"In many localities, rains have reduced the grade of open cotton. On the other hand, the rains tended to stop premature opening of bolls, and in the western part of the belt, through-out most of the belt, bolls have opened so rapidly that there has been a scarcity of pickers, so that much cotton is open and unpicked and subject to damage and loss in case of unfavorable weather.

Boll Weevil Loss Smaller.

"The boll weevil has not caused as much loss to the cotton crop this year as was anticipated earlier in the season. The long drought was unfavorable to the survival and propagation of this pest. Leaf worms have lately appeared in many places, but it is too late for them to do much damage.

"Considerable cotton production along the northern part of the belt depends on the date of first frost. In Alabama, the rains of the early part of the month caused new bolls to set and the final return in this state is very uncertain, depending upon whether the late bolls mature. In Texas the crop in the western third of the state is late and early freezing weather would cause a heavy loss."

HOOPER GIVES OPINION ON COTTON ESTIMATE.

Washington, October 8.—(AP)—Secretary Hoover said today that the increase in the cotton crop predicted by the agriculture department's estimate today would probably not burden markets of the world unduly.

"There will be an easy absorption of a very large American crop of cotton if the world leaves on an even keel," Mr. Hoover said. "The world demand for cotton is about at its best."

These countries, the total of latest forecast amounts to 17,645,000 against an estimated production last year of 15,929,000 bales, the department reported.

FOUR BALTIMORE MEN IN ALCOHOL TRIAL ENTER PEN

The largest number of men to enter the federal penitentiary at one time for several months was recorded Thursday night when 61 prisoners arrived, among them being four who figured in the recent sensational trial in Baltimore for violation of the Volstead act. They were found guilty at the same time that Newfield Jones, of Atlanta, and his brother, Winfield Jones, of Washington. They were Charles Baker, Isadore Glasser, Simon Kerner and Morris Carro, all of Baltimore.

All four with the exception of Carro are under sentences of one year and a day. Carro has an 18-month sentence. Of the 61 prisoners there were 26 from New York state, 22 from Cleveland, Ohio, four from Virginia and nine from Baltimore. The prisoners were brought to Atlanta on three special cars. This brings the total prison population to 2,849.

MRS. CLARK'S FUNERAL IS HELD IN ELBERTON

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at Harmony church in Elberton, for Mrs. Lucy Clark, 65, of 623 Ponce de Leon avenue. Interment was in the churchyard. Mrs. Clark had been a resident of Atlanta for nine years.

TO CROWN QUEEN IN ROME TODAY

Constitution Bureau. Rome, Ga., October 8.—(Special.)—Miss Lillian Fletcher, beautiful Rome girl, who was chosen "Miss Rome" last Friday night at the beauty show at Municipal auditorium, will be crowned "Queen of the Floyd County Fair and Homecoming" Friday afternoon in front of the grandstand at Memorial park.

Her parade will form in Rome and will march to the fair grounds. Rev. R. J. Broyles, pastor of South Broad Methodist church, legionnaire, will deliver the coronation address, following an introduction by Dr. W. H. Lewis, general chairman of the fair committees.

The annual homecoming day at the fair bids to be the largest of the entire week, and it is expected that the grandstand will be filled to capacity

CROCY IS ELECTED TO OFFICIAL POST BY HOTEL CLERKS

A. J. Crocy, auditor of the Piedmont hotel, has been named secretary-treasurer of the Atlanta Hotel Clerks' association, according to Thursday. Joe S. Wilson, also of the Piedmont staff, is president. Mr. Crocy is one of the youngest men ever to serve as auditor of the Piedmont and is known as the "baby" in the hotel circle.

He joined the Dinkler hotel system in October, 1923, as assistant auditor of the Atlanta hotel, and was transferred and promoted from this position to his present office several weeks ago. He is a native of New York, but came south as a student of Spring Hill college, at Mobile, Ala. After graduation with high honors he worked in New Orleans for a short time, coming to Atlanta late in 1923.

COURT IS ASKED TO DECIDE FIGHT FOR COUNCIL SEAT

K. W. Weaver, defeated in the recent city primary by Dr. J. E. Turner by a margin of only five votes in his race for council from the second ward, Thursday filed a petition in Fulton superior court for a recount of the ballots, a receiver for the ballot box, and an injunction to prevent the democratic executive committee from declaring a winner of the contest until the recount is made.

Weaver had asked the committee for a recount of the ballots and when this was denied decided to take the matter to the courts.

Judge George L. Bell declined to name a receiver, but granted a temporary injunction and set October 10 as the date for the hearing.

YOUNG REVUE IS READY TO BEGIN PROGRAM AT FAIR

Ernie Young, of Chicago, producer of the Ernie Young Revue which will present "The Passing Show of 1925," feature attraction on the night program of the Southeastern fair all next week, arrived in Atlanta Thursday night to make preparation for staging his spectacle here.

This is the first time a revue like ours ever has been offered at the Southeastern fair and we believe it will round out the best night program the fair has ever offered," Mr. Young said. "We are making every effort to give Atlanta the best revue seen at any of the fairs this year as we bring our company of 30 people here intact for the Atlanta engagement."

Mr. Young said a special stage is erected each night for his production directly in front of the grandstand. In the spectacle are "Minstrel Days," "The Wandering Gypsies," "Old Fashioned Melodies," and the beautiful finale, "Those Cadets on Parade."

The Ernie Young production represents an investment of $50,000 and it is the first successful outdoor musical comedy ever presented at a southern fair.

Message of Sympathy Wired To Dublin Fair Officials After Fire

Resolutions of sympathy from the Southeastern fair association to the Twelfth District fair association at Dublin, Ga., the buildings of which were destroyed by fire Wednesday, were dispatched Thursday afternoon by the executive committee of the Southeastern fair, which opened Thursday morning. It was stated Thursday afternoon by Frederic J. Paxton, president.

THOUSANDS ATTEND OPENING OF FAIR

A dazzling array of art products from states all over this section. Schools of Atlanta and Fulton county are well represented. The flower show, a part of the women's department here, is the most beautiful the fair ever has known.

A vast number of agricultural machines and other labor-saving devices are on display in the machinery building.

Entertainment features are more elaborate than ever before. Fireworks and hand concerts, dancing and other diversions have been provided free of charge to patrons. More than $10,000 worth of fireworks have been purchased to set off on the lake.

Racing Features Today

Today and Saturday there will be automobile racing. Grand circuit racing, a revival of harness events of big-time calibre, also will be held on the track.

A feature of the opening day was the horse show Thursday night. An interesting feature of exhibits is that of the boys' club, consisting of agricultural products raised by boys from nearly every county of Georgia. Prizes are awarded each year for the best production of these boys.

Gates open today at 8 o'clock and the exposition buildings will be opened from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. The southeastern singing convention, opens at 10 o'clock, as will the midway. There will be band concerts at 11, 2 and 7 o'clock. Automobile races will start at 2:30 o'clock. Community and chorus singing will take place on Sylvan terrace at 6 o'clock and the second session of the horse show will start in front of the grandstand with the cavalry exhibition following at 7:30 o'clock.

Culinary Awards

The following awards were made in the culinary department Thursday afternoon. Best exhibit canned vegetables, Mrs. A. M. Long, Buchanan, first; Mrs. J. E. Powell, Fairview road, second; Mrs. W. H. ## JEWEL TEA COMPANY MEETING ENDS TODAY

The two-day annual convention of officials and salesmen of the Nashville-Atlanta district of the Jewel Tea company will close this morning with a meeting of managers and head salesmen.

At the opening session Thursday morning plans were discussed for a fall selling campaign and preparation of new selling aids. It was followed by a luncheon at the Cecil hotel with a second session in the afternoon.

E. H. Bangert, local manager, has charge of the meetings. Officials of the company who are attending included M. H. Karker, president of the section, and E. H. O. B. Westphal, vice president.

The Jewel Tea company distributes about 50 food products in 6,000 cities throughout the country. It is a national organization.

BISHOPS APPROVE VERDICT OF HERESY

ing is, but I dislike to reopen the issue tonight."

Bishop Brown did not appear to be very much perturbed. Bishop Brown is the first bishop of the Episcopal church to be deposed for heresy, and the fourth bishop to be deposed in the history of the church.

Trouble Started in 1919

Bishop Brown's difficulties with his church began soon after the publication of his book "Communism and Christianity," six years ago. A committee of bishops waited on him and suggested that he resign from the house of bishops. This committee was deposed to the house of bishops that Bishop Brown had declined to discuss the suggestion.

Three years ago the matter was brought before the general convention on a petition from the diocese of Arkansas, of which Bishop Brown had once been the head. As a result of this petition, action was started, resulting in a trial on heresy charges at Cleveland in 1922. A verdict of guilty was returned and an appeal court last January affirmed the finding of the trial court. The house of bishops today, as a court of last resort, added its approval to the findings. Bishop Brown had not been an active bishop since 1912.

The day was a busy one for both the house of deputies and the house of bishops.

The only election was the reelection of William W. Skiddy, New York, who has been treasurer of the convention for 27 years. He was unanimously named by both houses.

Revision of the book of common prayer was before both houses. A number of changes were approved. In the house of deputies, the changes made in the service of morning prayer three years ago were ratified with only four dioceses voting in the negative.

Changes adopted by the house of bishops in the service of the Holy Communion include permissive shortening of the Ten Commandments. Possibility that women will be made eligible for election as deputies to the general convention appeared when a resolution was offered to authorize such a change.

The question of remarriage after

Rheumatic Pains Go Swollen Joints Vanish

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism; rid themselves of the torturing pain; reduced the swollen joints; thrown away canes and crutches, and from helpless beings became able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

They took Rheuma: the modern enemy of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, arthritis, and chronic neuralgia. Don't be skeptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that Rheuma is a waste matter in leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

There is no question about Rheuma bringing you back to health. That's why "Rheuma" drug stores and druggists everywhere sell it with guarantee of money back if it does not give quick relief. (adv.)

It is recommended for daytime use because it doesn't show. Get it today from any druggist and save all further distress. (adv.)

divorce was brought before the house of deputies in a resolution from the diocese of southern Ohio, proposing a revision of the canons dealing with this subject. The resolution set forth that the state, and not the church, should control marriage and be responsible for divorce. It was proposed that the final authority for remarriage after divorce should rest with the ecclesiastical authority of the diocese and that this authority should be left free to consider all the evidence in a given case, not the legal side only but ethical and social factors as well.

Preparation to Elect Presiding Bishop. Preparations for the election of a presiding bishop, who will be president of the national council also, were made in the house by adoption of a report of a committee of seven on duties of the presiding bishop to be elected. The salary of the presiding bishop, the first to be elected, was fixed at $15,000, with $5,000 for house rent and expenses. It was proposed that he assume his duties January 1. Time for the election was to be fixed. The report of the Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, announced the resignation of two bishops, the Rt. Rev. Julius W. Atwood, of Arizona, and the Rt. Rev. Boyd Vincent, of southern Ohio.

$904,000 CONTRIBUTED TO THANK OFFERING

New Orleans, October 8.—(AP)—At a mass meeting of delegates to the 48th triennial general conference of the Episcopal Church in the United States, held here tonight, officers of the women's auxiliary reported that $904,000 had been donated to the united thank offering of the church since the 1922 conference to the present time.

This sum was but $96,000 less than the goal set for the current thank offering, which was $1,000,000, and is $223,000 more than the total reported at the 1922 conference, which was $681,000.

All in?

It is probably due to constipation—that "all in" feeling. Don't be too sure your bowels are regular. Many people never eliminate all the poisonous intestinal waste which in turn affects the rest of the system. Pluto Water, bottled at French Lick Springs, flushes and washes the entire bowels—quickly and harmlessly. Prescribed by physicians and obtainable at all drug stores.

Notice to the Public

YOU are probably like everybody else in this respect: You do not believe in throwing money away.

The entire nation today is showing a tendency toward greater economy in the purchase of everyday necessities of life.

Now—please think this over: Suppose you are today paying, say, 50¢ a tube for your dentifrice (and there are many excellent dentifrices selling today at that price).

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes in the course of a year.

Now if you knew that you could obtain as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save during the period of one year the price of:

25 loaves of bread, or— 8 pounds of coffee, or—
60 bars of laundry soap, or— a new necktie, or—40 lbs. of sugar, or— a pair of silk stockings, or—a box of fine cigars

—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

This announcement, made by one of the most responsible companies in the country, is to tell you that any one of these savings is now right at your door.

As sole makers for 50 years of Listerine, the safe antiseptic, known the world over, and sold in 58 foreign countries, The Lambert Pharmacal Company could naturally not jeopardize their reputation and standing by offering anything but the highest quality of product.

Thus, in producing for the public a second great product—a dentifrice—quality was the first and most important consideration.

Listerine Tooth Paste is, therefore, today as good a dentifrice as modern knowledge can produce.

When it came to determining the price of this tooth paste, we decided that a most important requirement was that it should be priced within the reach of every purse.

Therefore, the lowest possible price for a regular size tube was adopted.

This price is 25¢.

We want you to try Listerine Tooth Paste with the knowledge that in using this dentifrice regularly you will be able to avail yourself of any one of the substantial savings indicated above.

If you will simply try it, we feel confident that you will become a regular user, for you will be delighted with its cleansing qualities and its unusually refreshing taste.

Take advantage of this announcement while the thought is fresh in your mind.

Go to your drug store and purchase a regular size tube of Listerine Tooth Paste for 25¢, and with that other quarter you may have been in the habit of spending for a tooth paste buy that something else which you know you need.

Our experience has been that once a person tries Listerine Tooth Paste and enjoys these savings he never goes back to the more expensive dentifrices. See what your experience will be.

JACKETS ON NINTH TRIP TO FETCH YANKEE 'BACON'

'Hunch' Tells Staton Law Of Averages Will Turn To Tech Forces Saturday

BY JOHN STATON,
Former All-Southern End.

The Yellow Jacket football team left Thursday on its ninth game above the Mason-Dixon line. Eight times before this team has left its southern environment, with hope swelling high, with the urge to give all deep within the breast of every player, and eight times this team has come back defeated. True, there have been moments of glory, for Tech has played some masterful games on foreign soil; but never in all the athletic history of the school has a Tech team ever crossed the southern boundary and come home victorious.

Things started way back in 1918, when Tech and Pitt met for the first time and 1919 saw these two teams again fighting it out in the Smoky City. This game lent glory to Tech precedent though for Harlan, playing with water on the knee, bucked the ball 19 straight times for 95 yards and a touchdown. Judy had to buck full 80 yards, plus 15 yards for penalties. The Tech-Pitt game in 1920 was a moral victory for the Golden Tornado, for Tech, using only 13 men, held the hordes of the Panthers at bay for three quarters and over.

Then came the catastrophe of 1921, the Tech-Penn State game at the Polo Grounds. Tech probably played her worst football in this game. Glen Killenger and colors, rang rings around the Jacket line. The Navy defeated Tech in 1922, 14-0. In 1923, Tech lost two games abroad, one to Notre Dame, the other to Penn State. Last year Tech lost to Notre Dame in South Bend. And that is the roll call.

Tech perhaps showed to best advantage in 1920 against Pitt, and in 1923 against Penn State. In the former game, the score was 10 to 3, in the latter 7 to 0.

No Home Grounds.
But, back to the impending contest. One vital consideration, home grounds, need not be considered, for the Yankee stadium is new to both teams. Tech will have to travel further to get there, it is true, but travel will not seriously affect the boys, as they will probably work out in Washington Friday afternoon.

Naturally the big question is who will win the game. Frankly, indications point to Penn State. One of their stars of last season is unable to make the varsity this year. Coupled

KREMER FACES FERGUSON TODAY

Pittsburgh, October 8.—(AP)—Managers McKechnie, of Pittsburgh, and Harris, of Washington, said after the Pirates' victory in the second world's series game today that they would continue right-handed duels, at least in the first contest at Washington tomorrow. Ray Kremer, youthful Pittsburgh moundman, will face Alex Ferguson, obtained by the Senators from the New York Yankees this season, and former pitcher for the Boston Red Sox. The statements of Harris and McKechnie upset the 'dope' somewhat, as it had been expected that Emil Yule and Dutch Reuther, two capable southpaws, would fight out the third contest.

that the Tech team of 1925 is going to be made on this very game. Tech stands again at the threshold.

PASSES GAIN HEADWAY ON GRID

New York, October 8.—(AP)—Aerial attacks will make up a large portion of football tactics on eastern college gridirons Saturday judging from expert drills on forward passes at various camps.

Princeton's success with the pass in the Amherst contest has been followed with more intensive practice in that line in preparation for the tussle with Washington and Lee.

The Penn varsity scored twice on two long forward passes hurled by Charley Rogers and handled by Scull and Thayer, ends against the scrubs in the final scrimmage before the Brown tilt.

Gil Dobie has been tuning his Cornell squad with some new overhead plays which he plans to try out against Williams.

Earl Goodwine, left halfback on the Yale scrub eleven, intercepted a forward pass in midfield and raced for the first touchdown against the 'varsity' in a week of practice. The first string counted two touchdowns. The Blue now is marking time for Georgia.

Jack Owsley has been stressing the forward pass on the Middies, who are expected to even the standing with Marquette, which won last year, 21 to 2.

Scheffler succeeded in breaking through a scrub line for the Army's lone touchdown in a preparatory scrimmage for the Knox college game.

Added power to the attack of the Penn State eleven in its inter-sectional duel with Georgia Tech was seen in Coach Hugo Bazdek's shift of Mike Michalske, veteran 200-pound guard, to the fullback post. Bazdek will have all his regulars in action Saturday to stop the speedy Golden Tornado captain, Douglas Wycoff.

Coach Bob Fisher will start his first Harvard eleven against Middlebury.

Denies Existence of Commercialism in College Sports

Chicago, October 8.—(AP)—President Max Mason, of the University of Chicago, does not believe a commercialized athletic situation exists in the leading colleges of the country.

"Of course there is enormous popular interest in football," he says, "and when you have such an interest there is bound to be over-emphasis. But as long as football remains token of school loyalty, a means of building character, popularity will not harm it."

Whether coaches are overpaid, depends on the coach, in his opinion. "A man who is able to develop character rather than merely to win games, and who exercises a good influence of manliness and fairness upon his players, is valuable. The coach whose sole object is to win, is a liability."

He admits there may be jealousy between the academic and athletic departments of most universities.

President Mason, a one-time Wisconsin track star and letter-man in the high jump, favors mass athletics.

CIRCUIT RACES OFF AGAIN

Lexington, Ky., October 8.—(AP)—A wet track today necessitated postponement of the Grand Circuit races here. The trots were postponed yesterday also because of track conditions.

SCHOOLGIRL WINS ENGLISH RACE

Newmarket, England, October 8.—(AP)—An 18-year-old school girl with her hair done up in braids under her jockey cap, today piloted Walter Earl's horse Hoger to victory in the Town Plate, one of the oldest events in English turfdom. The fair winner is Eileen Joel, daughter of the well known turfman, Hol Joel.

MORRIS KIRKSEY NOT ELIGIBLE AT STANFORD

Morris Kirksey, who was heralded two years ago as an aspirant to Charles Paddock's title as champion sprinter, is planning to return to Stanford. Kirksey will be ineligible for varsity competition, as for the last two years he has been coaching Santa Rosa, Cal., high school.

PIERSON TAKES THIRD SHOT AT BIG LEAGUES

William Pierson, a southpaw pitcher who was with the Athletics and later the New York Americans several years ago, has been signed by Pittsburgh. He was suspended after jumping Bridgeport, but since has been reinstated and has been pitching for an Atlantic City independent league team.

Sportively Speaking~

By H.C. HAMILTON

A Noble Athlete Gone.
His Graceful Motion.
Loved By A Nation.

SOMEWHERE out yonder behind the veil towards which all faces are turned the soul of the greatest baseball pitcher who ever lived and one of the finest gentlemen, has answered the final summons. Christy Mathewson is dead, and the sentence brings a tug at the heart of everyone with whom he ever came in contact. He was a victim of tubercular pneumonia, a disease against which no athlete ever has had a fighting chance.

It is the good fortune of this writer to be able to write here that he had seen Christy Mathewson in action. Many thousands of others who saw the mighty, poetic swing of the giant frame as he delivered a ball to a batsman will agree that never has there been a man with such perfect rhythm of action in the pitcher's box.

JUST as vividly as though it happened but a day or so ago the picture of this wonderful athlete comes to the mind's eye. Huge and hulking he stood in the box momentarily to await the signal of the catcher. Swiftly then the left leg came up as the ball was brought to the chest over the shoulder, and then back to the point of delivery. In one graceful sweep from the start of motion to its finish when the ball left the hand of the pitcher, Mathewson had wound up and delivered the ball. Not a pause nor a false movement.

And his control was perfect. No other word will do. Long after the great power of muscular delivery had partly failed and the sharp or sweeping curves he formerly had delivered could not be mastered, Mathewson was winning games solely by his great knowledge of batsmen and his ability to place the ball always at the proper spot.

JOHN MCGRAW deserves all the credit for developing Mathewson's ability. When the present manager of the Giants first went to that ball club he found Matty there playing first base and filling utility roles. He had started his major league career with Cincinnati as a pitcher, but he could not master the secret of control, and Horace Fogel, attempting to get something out of the big fellow, determined to make a first baseman of him.

McGraw quickly changed that. He took Matty into his own charge and worked with him for weeks, slowly developing the talent he knew Mathewson possessed. The results are well known to fandom. He became the greatest pitcher the game ever has known.

CENTRE STAR

"Chick" Morrow, Centre halfback and triple threat man, will bear watching when the Colonels meet Oglethorpe here Saturday. Morrow runs, passes and kicks well, according to reports from the Danville camp.

Petrels Prepared To Use Full Strength Saturday; Colonels Arrive Today

BY JULIAN GRIFFIN.

Brains and speed, two elements that are considered very important in the makeup of modern gridiron combat, are destined to play an important part in the game Saturday between Coach Robertson's covey of courageous Birds at Oglethorpe university and the Colonels of Centre college.

Advance dope trickling down from the Danville stronghold indicates the Colonels are sending a flashy team here, one that packs a bag of tricks and the Petrels will have to be on the alert all the while, unless one of the tricks should work and result in a touchdown and perhaps victory.

The Colonels, headed by the famous Bo McMillin, received one of the biggest surprises of their lives in Atlanta in 1920. Certainly they would not contemplate a trip to this city without visions of a vicious battle.

Coach Robertson has primed his boys for a classic battle, realizing that much depends upon the outcome with reference to final ratings in S. I. A. A. circles, the championship in which now rests at the Peachtree road institution.

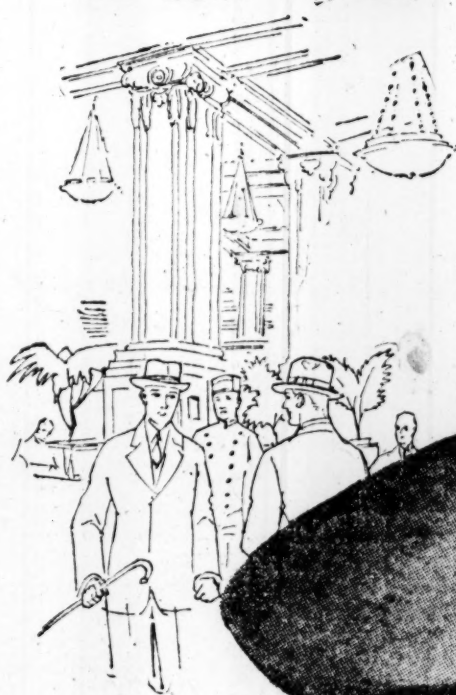

Petrels Prepared.
If the Colonels come here to unload a bunch of tricks, they must match wits with the brainy little "Nitty" Campbell and the flashy Adrian Maurer. Bob Kilgore will plunge into the holes from fullback position.

The selection of another halfback to run with Maurer has not been made definitely. White and Smith are both nursing sprained knees which will keep them out of the game, so the assignment rests between Shepherd, a splendid back, and Alton Redfean, whose age showing at practice has not been heralded through these columns simply because he writes Oglethorpe news for this paper and shies at spelling his own name on the typewriter. Give him a football and—him past the line of scrimmage, however, and a touchdown is assured, as good as scored.

The brightest flare from the Colonels' ammunition train is Rabenstein (an Irish lad), who was a running mate of Flash Covington last season. He weighs 175 pounds and is a dead-end.

Princess Alla Mestchersky, whose family and fortune were swept away in the Russian revolution, is now working as a chambermaid in a London hotel.

FLASHY FIELDING GIVES PIRATES SECOND GAME, 3 TO 2

Cuyler's Circuit Wallop
With Moore on First
Evens Series at One-All

with the deciding tallies, while Aldridge, making the last of a series of gallant stands, kept the Senators from boarding the Pirate craft in a desperate ninth inning rally that fell only one run short of tying the count.

Final Rally Short.

The Senators had filled the bases with none out in their last inning counter attack and did manage to push over one run on a long sacrifice fly by Bob Vanech, in a pinch-hitting role, but Aldridge struck out Dutch Ruetheer, another substitute batsman, and retired the dangerous Sam Rice on an easy bouncer for the final out.

It was the second time in the game that the world's champions filled the bases with none out, but on the first occasion, the fifth inning, they were even less successful, going out without making a run. In that frame, Aldridge put himself in the hole by mis-handling Coveleskie's bunt and throwing too late to third after Peckinpaugh and Ruel had hit Texas leaguers. But the Pirate twirler pulled himself together with Washington's heavy artillery facing him. He forced Rice, Stanley Harris and Goslin to hit into easy infield plays, two of which were force-outs at the plate.

Through the earlier stages of the game Aldridge was outpitched and hit harder than his veteran rival, Coveleskie, but his courage and control lifted him close to invincibility when danger lurked nearest. Besides his great stands in the fifth and ninth, Aldridge choked off Senator threats in two other innings when the fleet-footed Sam Rice was in a position to score from second or third if the second hit could only come through.

Cuyler Ruined Covey.

Coveleskie himself twirled capably, pulling himself out of bad holes in two innings, the third and sixth, but his downfall was accomplished through two master strokes—the home runs of Wright and Cuyler—although the big Polish star's moist ball silenced the main Pirate guns for the most part.

There was no doubt, too, that two separate but distinct breaks helped Pittsburgh's eighth inning spurt. The first was an error by the usually reliable veteran Peckinpaugh, who couldn't handle the most ball driven at him by Eddie Moore before the runner got to first. The second "break" came a moment later when Cuyler's hard drive to right, scoring Moore ahead of him, took a sharp hop that ended in the front part of the temporary stands. It was a fluke homer, a hit that would have given no more than two bases on the regular playing field, but it was sufficient to clinch the battle.

Regardless of these turns of fifteen, however, the Pirates probably would have failed twice in this inning. Moore, on second at the time, would have scored even if Cuyler's blow hadn't jumped out of the field. Barnhart followed with another hit and Peck contributed a second error on Traynor's bouncer but these blows were wasted as Coveleskie steadied and checked the onslaught.

Thus the much vaunted Pittsburgh attack broke through the enemy's bulwarks decisively for the first time in the series while on the defense the young National League champions again outshone their more seasoned rivals to the confusion of pre-series predictions, with Grantham and Barnhart scintillating particularly in fielding performances.

SPORT SCRIBES PUSH
COLLINS INTO TROUBLE

During his many years in baseball John Collins had the reputation of never having been put out of a ball game by an umpire. But a manager's job, it seems, is more hazardous. Any way, John, who managed Pittsfield, had his great record broken during a series with Hartford. The scribes prodded Collins on for more of it, claiming he was too easy with the ump. Such is baseball.

"Tain't no need to advise folks to economize," said Uncle Eben. "If you don't economize now you're most likely to be 'billed to later.'"—Washington Star.

Harris Says Failure at Bat Lost Second Game

BAMA LEAVES FOR L. S. U.
GAME

BY BOB MATHERNE.
University, Ala., October 8.—(Special.)—The squad of Crimson Tidesmen who Saturday meet the Louisiana State University eleven at Baton Rouge, La., left Tuscaloosa shortly before midnight Thursday.

Cochman Wallace Wade was in charge of the party journeying to Louisiana. Light practice was held here Thursday afternoon. Signals featured the day's workout, although much attention was given to the punting and passing of the backs. This light practice followed two days of scrimmaging against L. S. U. plays.

All possible starters of Saturday's game were boarded on a Pullman early Thursday night. The Crimson squad will reach New Orleans early Friday morning and will tarry there only long enough to catch an up-state train for the scene of the game. Immediately upon arriving the Crimson will practice out at the new stadium, about three miles from Baton Rouge proper.

The line of the "grass-cutters" this year is the pick of the freshmen outfit. It is a line that borders close to an average of 190 pounds and is just about as good as lines boasted of by many college eleven this year. Its personnel includes Shadow and Shidmore at ends, Smith and Adams at tackles, Hagler and Pearce at guards and McNeil at center. All of these are "varsity" prospects of next year. And, to be frank, they have been more than holding their own against the "varsity" outfit.

Against L. S. U. plays here Tuesday the "varsity" found the shift used by the Louisianaians rather troublesome. The ends had more trouble than the rest of the team and Coach Wade found it constantly necessary to shift and change to find flankmen able to combat their tactics.

Ends Develop Slowly.

It seems that none of the ends have developed as fast as the players seeking berths elsewhere. Hodson, Wall, Vines and Winslett seem to be the type of whom the greater service is expected, but they have yet to step forward a great bit. Tough games are ahead of the Tide the rest of the season, and any dub about this grid game can tell you that strong ends are an important asset.

The men are coming slowly, but every one expects them to round out in time before Sewanee Saturday week.

It will be a heavy line and a fleet, versatile backfield that will face L. S. U. Saturday. The starting team expected to face them will probably start the rest of the games this year unless injuries set in. The probable center of the line will consist of Holmes at center, Captain Jones and Buckler at guards, and Perry and Camp at tackles. This quintet will average about 193 pounds from man to man. The backs to start are uncertain.

L. S. U. is not apt to face a more versatile backfield this year than the one they will face Saturday with the starting four to be picked from Hubert, Gillis, Mack Brown, Rosenfield, Johnson and Barnes can pass. All are can punt and so can Caldwell, Hubert, Barnes, Caldwell and Johnson can do all the line plunging that a quarterback can ask for, and for off-tackle plunges and runs, the Crimson will present Johnny Mack Brown, Dave Rosenfield, Caldwell—oh, just any of them.

It will also be a head-up team on the field. Skull practices have been held continually this season, and the results of this sort of training have been seen in the two previous games this season.

PITTSBURG FOOLED EXPERTS
PIRATES TURNED TABLES ON VETERAN SENATORS
BY CALMNESS UNDER FIRE

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Pittsburg, October 8.—Good feed-box information is a rare delicacy. But, unlike an egg that is just the least bit peculiar, your information from the feed-box can't even be used for cooking once it begins to make itself obnoxious. There is no salvage and the goods aren't returnable.

This being so, the best thing to do about the feed-box intelligence on this world series between the Pirates and the Senators is to grasp it firmly between the thumb and forefinger, adjust a clothpin tightly to the nose, and carry the stuff to the most reliable reduction plant.

It has no good traits. It said the Pirates were yellow and would fall on their several faces with unanimity if they were ever crowded into a situation in which every ball carried a dollar-sign.

It is said that the Senators' infield would put gloves to a lot of impossible jumps and flip the ball from man to man like whooping cough through a kindergarten, converting hits into double-plays.

It further reported that the best infield of the world series could be expected from Roger Peckinpaugh, the Senators' shortstop who was adjudged the most useful individual in the American league this year and given a diploma, all covered with whiplashes like a cigarette coupon but ten times as efficacious as to whom it might concern.

"Something around here isn't strictly fresh," remarked Mr. Pitts Blackman, the Cincinnati gatecrasher, who is taking post-graduate work in his art under the maestro, One-eyed Connelly. This was about the fifth inning of Thursday's worst series game which eventually went to the Pirates 3 to 2 and ended up the series at one game apiece.

"I recognize that aroma," Mr. Blackman said, puckering his nose in a cultured way. "Phooey! The world series dope has gone sour."

And it was even more so. You might say it was even more so. For the Pirates defended the plate against three Senators who got around third base in the first inning, but not a single foreign clout nipped the rubber of the goal, although the inning had begun with a rush and the bases were crowded with none out.

In the next inning, Bucky Harris, pivot man of the Senators' double-play department, muffed a throw from Stanley Coveleskie, who was pitching, and was lucky to catch his man at second, without even trying to throw out the hitter going to first. This provoked some inquiry into the books and the fact was revealed that the Senators' double-play combination has accomplished just one of those surprise operations in two entire games and that Harris had no part in that one.

Peckinpaugh Erratic.
When the eighth inning arrived, the fragrance of curdled dope was uncertain.

AUTO RACES
TOSTART
TODAY

With one of the greatest fields of stars ever slated for a 1200-foot track, everything is in readiness for the first events in the big two-day automobile race meet that is to open the racing season at the Southeastern fair this afternoon.

Louis Disbrow, four times dirt track champion of the world; Fred Horey, twice holder of the coveted dirt track title and a host of other champions and near-champions belonging to the begoggled fraternity are on deck ready to face Starter Repp's red flag in the first heat of the Ajax trophy race, the feature event on the first day's program.

Johnny Watters, another world-famed pilot, is also on deck and he is expected to give the stars picked out by dopsters a run for their money in the distance events. Pop Daily, veteran deflator of the mighty Sig Hagedahl, is also ready with his flying Red Sox and should come in for his share of the purse money.

The other drivers who are ready to race are Al Cotey, veteran Elcar driver and head of the Elcar racing team; Dewey Shank, who will drive a Red Special; Pop Walgren, veteran Yale Special speed merchant; Red Rehr, who is slated to tool a Wisconsin Special; and Jimmie Montana, Barnes Special driver.

MA' TO ATTEND
VANDY GAME

Nashville, Tenn., October 8.—(AP)—Governor "Ma" Ferguson, of Texas, is coming here to the football game between Vanderbilt and Texas Saturday. This was announced in a telegram to Vanderbilt officials. The team will arrive with ten special carloads of rosters, including other notable besides Governor Ferguson.

ORIOLES EVEN LITTLE SERIES

Oriole Park, Baltimore, Md., October 8.—(AP)—Ed Holley was ineffective today for the Louisville Colonels and the Baltimore Internationals evened the game count of the little world series by a 5-to-3 victory. Earnshaw held the Kentuckians to five hits. Tyson, Colonels outfielder, hit a home run in the fourth.

The teams have now won three games each.

PAUL TO MEET
JACK DELANEY

New York, October 8.—(AP)—Paul Berlenbach this afternoon signed articles to defend his light-heavyweight ring championship against Jack Delaney, of Bridgeport, Conn., in an indoor bout of 15 rounds to a decision at the new Madison Square Garden on December 11.

U.S.B. WHIPPED
BY JUNIOR PETRELS

In their second appearance of the season, the Oglethorpe freshman eleven vanquished the University School for Boys outfit yesterday afternoon on Hermance field by an 8-to-0 count.

A safety and touchdown, occurring in the second and third quarters respectively, accounted for the scoring of the young Petrels. Several times during the battle the Frosh were within striking distance of the Blueford goal line but failed to produce the necessary punch for a tally.

Superior strength in the forward wall and an excellent secondary defense proved too much for the Bluebirds. The hopes of the Atlanta preps brightened when aerial attacks were underway and then a comparable gains were registered.

A bad pass from center with the ball on their own ten-yard line gave the Frosh the safety. On a punt formation, the ball was tossed over Butler's head but he covered also he behind his goal line and was pinned to the earth by Bush, Oglethorpe end.

Flashed end skirting by Talferro and Massey and terrific line plunging by Bell enabled the Freshmen to march to the University School nine-yard line. After one attempt through the line, Bell carried the ball over for a score on an off tackle kick. He failed to drop kick for the extra point.

In the closing moments of play the Petrels launched a passing attack which ended within the shadow of the Bluebird goal posts. Massey did the flipping and Bass and Bush the grabbing.

Jakie Butler, quarterback, and Speer, tackle and captain, proved the mainstays in the Bluebird machine. Butler was responsible for the most part of the offensive work while Captain Speer bore the brunt of battle in the line.

The Bluebirds threatened to score in the early chapters of the game when a 25-yard pass was completed, placing the oval within the 20-yard territory. At this juncture the Petrels held with might and main, sniping passes and smashing line plays.

Manager World Champion Washington Club.
(Copyright, 1925, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Pittsburg, October 8.—A club has got to hit to win. We did not hit at opportune moments in the second game of the world series and were on the short end of a 3-to-2 count after the last man was retired. Stanley Coveleskie pitched a game that ordinarily would win, but we failed to take advantage of the scoring opportunities that came our way.

Washington had two great chances to give Vic Aldridge and the other Pirates a good lacing. We filled the bases with none out in the fifth inning and did the same in the ninth and all we got out of it was one run. It was an off day for the Washington attack. That was all.

Aldridge proved his mettle under fire in those two frames. He had every excuse for faltering a trifle each time, but after getting into difficulty, he was always able to put more on the ball than he had previously. That's the kind of pitching that tells in crucial crises.

Another Pirate who did much to even the series was Glen Wright, brilliant shortstop of the National league champions. He not only put his club into the game with his homer in the fourth, but also did some excellent work on defense. His stop of the bouncer I happened to send past Aldridge in the fifth and his throw to the plate that forced out Ruel was as fine baseball as one could care to witness.

Infield Poised.
The entire Pittsburg team played a splendid defensive game. It is nothing unusual for the inner line of defense to become too taut and then fumbles or wild throws are apt to follow. But the Pirate infield quartet was perfectly poised at critical moments and brilliantly supported the pitchers. There was something to worry about when Bluege was knocked out by one of Aldridge's pitches in the sixth inning. The Washington team lost its star third sacker for the remainder of the game and probably for the opening engagement in Washington, too.

The blow in the head did not injure Bluege seriously, physicians believe, but it left him quite dizzy and he may not be allowed to return to the lineup until he has had a good rest. In the meantime Buddy Myer, the shortstop Washington got from New Orleans the latter part of August, is likely to hold down the job at the far corner. This is Myer's first year in professional baseball. He was at the Cleveland spring training camp, but began the season with New Orleans. He is a fine fielding shortstop and I believe he will be able to take care of the third basing until Bluege is ready to resume work.

I am confident Washington will turn the table on the Pirates in the first of the games in Washington. We will have Alex Ferguson ready to pitch for us and he showed in five games he worked for Washington during the American league season after we bought him from the Yankees that he has plenty of real pitching ability.

I look for Alex to foil the Pirates. Covey pitched well enough to win, but we did not slam hard enough to get anywhere. I do not think for a moment we will so lack punch as we did against Aldridge.

Impressive Ceremony Unites Miss Metcalf and Mr. Welch

A beautiful event of Thursday evening was the marriage of Miss Grace Metcalf and William Ryson Welch, which took place at St. Mark's Methodist church with the Rev. Dr. James B. Mitchell, pastor of the church, officiating.

A profusion of palms, ferns, smilax and foliage plants banked the pulpit and choir loft, while floor baskets of white roses were artistically arranged at intervals.

Lovely Bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, E. E. Lowe. She wore an exquisite gown of white chiffon trimmed with cream lace, pearl and orange blossom embroidery. A stately court train of white satin was attached to her shoulders with orange blossom clusters. Her bridal veil of silk tulle and lace fell the length of the train and was confined to her hair with sprays of orange blossoms with crystal pendants holding it in place on either side. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses showered with valley lilies.

Misses Lucia Bennett and Virginia Jones were the two attractive bridesmaids, wearing gowns of pink tulle and silver lace. Their bouquets were pink roses showered with swainsons.

Miss Gertrude Bandy, the maid of honor, wore a gown of turquoise blue chiffon combined with cream lace and trimmed in crystal beads. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and swainsons.

The matron of honor, Mrs. E. E. Lowe, aunt of the bride, wore an imported gown, a combination of silver, gold and bronze flame metal cloth. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses showered with swainsons and tied with gold tissue.

The flower girls were Camille Perry and Dorothy Tree. They wore frocks alike in chiffon in pastel shades trimmed with French flowers, and carried baskets of pink roses tied with pink tulle.

The ring bearer, Ware Cook, was dressed in white satin and carried the ring in an Easter lily tied with white ribbon.

The ushers were Joseph Jarrett Perry and Walter Sarte Downman. The groomsmen were W. C. Cain, Snell and William Durand Smith.

The groom was attended by Prince

George Smith, who acted as best man. An informal reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's uncle, E. E. Lowe, after which the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Florida.

Mrs. A. L. Bandy, the bride's mother, wore a gown of pink crepe beaded in crystals and her corsage bouquet was of pink roses.

Miss Olga Dickerson and Miss Margaret Vandergriff served punch. They wore frocks of pink chiffon embroidered in silver.

Sir Henry Esmonde To Arrive On Thursday.

Sir Henry Gratton Esmonde, twelfth baronet of County Wexford, Ireland, will arrive in Atlanta on Saturday, October 10, for a visit of several days at the Georgian Terrace.

Sir Henry is a chamberlain to the pope, Knight of the Holy Sepulcher, and St. John of Jerusalem. He is one of the oldest Norman families, his estate consisting of ten thousand acres in Wexford, and is a noted big game shot. He is a member of the Kildare St. Dublin club.

Miss Anderson Weds Guy Haynes Northcutt.

Marietta, Ga., October 8.—Of widespread interest was the wedding of Miss Ruth Anderson to Guy Haynes Northcutt, which took place on Wednesday evening, October 7, at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

Rev. R. C. Cheek was the officiating minister. After the wedding a reception was held at the Marietta golf club. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Northcutt left for New York, and upon their return will be at home in Marietta.

Parties Announced For Miss Lewis.

Many parties are being given for Miss Eloise Lewis, a bride-elect.

Miss Janet Collins will entertain at a bridge tea on Friday afternoon at her home on E. Fourteenth street in honor of Miss Lewis.

Miss Delphine Popham will entertain at a bridge luncheon at her home on Peachtree road on Thursday for Miss Lewis.

Miss Elizabeth Richardson will entertain at a bridge tea at the Piedmont Driving club Monday, October 12, for Miss Lewis, and Mrs. Colquitt Howard will give a bridge luncheon at her mother's home on Springdale road on Monday, October 12, honoring this same lovely bride-elect.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Celebrate At Home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Merlin celebrated their first anniversary Sunday, October 4, at their home in West End. To carry out the custom of having cotton for the first anniversary, the house was beautifully decorated in miniature cotton bolls and blossoms.

Mrs. Merlin received her guests wearing a gown of black crepe trimmed in velvet.

About 25 guests were invited for this occasion.

Kle Club To Sponsor Benefit Dance.

A benefit dance, sponsored by the Kle club unit of B. O. P. No. 78, will be held under the able chairmanship of Mrs. James J. Condon, at the Elk's clubhouse on Tuesday evening, October 20.

The well-known and popular Rita Harmony orchestra will furnish the music. Tickets, $1 per couple, may be procured from any Kle club member.

All who have attended these dances in the past are most cordially urged to be present and so assist the club to swell the Christmas charity fund, which, through lodge No. 78, gladdens the hearts of so many of Atlanta's poor kiddies at the Yuletide season.

All money earned by this club goes for philanthropic purposes. The all-day social meeting will be held at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Murphy, 30 Rockford avenue, Dearborn 0151, on Wednesday, October 14. New members are especially urged to be present and become better acquainted.

West End Club Holds Meetings.

The literary committee of the West End Woman's club held an enthusiastic meeting October 7 at the club rooms, 2181 Lee street.

Mrs. Alice Embree Means, literary chairman, presiding.

The program, to begin on the third Wednesday in October, will be on "Aboriginal America," Mrs. Elmet Brogdon and Miss Elizabeth Young having the principal papers.

The discussion will be by the personnel of the society. Mrs. Jack Edwards will be secretary to the committee. Mrs. T. J. Akeridge pianist, Mrs. Fred Johnson press, Miss Margaret Griffith, librarian.

The chairman has secured John T. Boileau as speaker for the afternoon.

Ormeewood P-T. A. Daddies' Meeting.

A "daddies' meeting" of the Ormeewood Parent-Teacher association will be held at the school Friday night, October 9, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

A very interesting program has been arranged, including short talks by Rev. Barrett on "The Father's Duty to His Child," and Mrs. Leo Sudderth on "The Aim and Purpose of Our Parent-Teacher Association." After the business the fathers will have charge of the meeting, and an entertaining and amusing program will be given by them. Refreshments will be served. All mothers and fathers of Ormeewood school are invited to be present.

Mrs. Bogart Is Hostess.

Mrs. Peter Bogart was hostess Wednesday evening at an informal buffet supper at her home on the Prado in Ansley Park, honoring her daughter, Miss Dorothy Bogart and her guest, Mrs. Henry E. Odell, of Pensacola, Florida.

An array of lovely pink roses decorated the rooms where the guests were received and also were artistically arranged on the beautifully appointed table in the dining room.

Twenty-six friends were invited. Mrs. Bogart will honor Mrs. Odell with an informal bridge-tennis afternoon at the Atlanta Woman's club.

Prominent Visitors To Be Entertained.

Many affairs will be given in honor of Admiral and Mrs. Mary Bristol, who will arrive this evening to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Dodge Little, at their home in the Baltimore apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McBurney will entertain at luncheon for them Saturday at 1:30 o'clock at their home on Peachtree road.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Little will honor their guests at dinner, at 8 o'clock, at their home.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant will be hosts at a luncheon at 1:30 o'clock at "Craigellachie," in compliment to Admiral and Mrs. Bristol.

They will again be complimented by Mr. and Mrs. Little at a buffet-supper Sunday evening, at their home, at 8:30 o'clock.

Monday Mrs. Bristol will go to Tallulah Falls, where she formerly had a summer home, and will be entertained at luncheon at the Tallulah Falls school, of which John K. Otley is director for the G. F. W. C.

Former Governor and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton on Monday evening will give a dinner party, at 8 o'clock, at "Wingfield" for Admiral and Mrs. Bristol.

Tuesday Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun will give a luncheon at 1:30 o'clock at her home on Andrews drive in compliment to Mrs. Bristol. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell will entertain at dinner at home Tuesday at 6 o'clock for these distinguished visitors.

They will be guests of honor Wednesday at a luncheon to be given by Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee at her country home at Marietta, the luncheon hour to be 1:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Jones will entertain at dinner Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the Druid Hills club in honor of Admiral and Mrs. Bristol.

Admiral Bristol is American high commissioner at Constantinople and this is the first leave he has enjoyed in America since the end of the world war. In that city, one of the most cosmopolitan in the world's history, Admiral and Mrs. Bristol are officially at the head of all events, and have won a most enjoyable popularity in the diplomatic world.

A brief routine of business was attended to, such as reports by Mrs. J. Loyd Teaford, recording secretary; Mrs. Stafford Seidel, vice president; and chairman of executive board, the latter telling of the U. D. C. exhibit at Southeastern fair. Mrs. Seidel stressed the importance of having all perishable articles sent to the booth on Monday at the latest, as the judges will pass upon the exhibit on Tuesday. Anyone who has promised pies, cakes, candies, peaches, etc., will please deliver them to Mrs. Seidel's home.

Mrs. Perdue announced that the Atlanta chapter was the first chapter to announce that it possesses a reference library of books pertaining to southern Confederacy and southern literature. Mrs. Nora Allen Volpi, accompanied by her husband, Signor Volpi, contributed two songs.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, who has recently returned from a stay of three months abroad, was the interesting speaker on the program. Mrs. Sharp attended the International Congress of Prison Reformers in London and heard the leading lights of the world speak. Mrs. Sharp also spoke of her visit to the Paris Woman's club and of the many lovely attentions shown her

Polo Games at Ft. McPherson Will Benefit Tallulah

Invitations have been extended to Governor and Mrs. Walker, Mayor and Mrs. Sims, former Governor and Mrs. John M. Slaton, Senator and Mrs. Hoke Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Otley, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Rambo, General and Mrs. Hagood, General and Mrs. Eltinge, Colonel and Mrs. Ryther and General Charles Cox as distinguished guests to occupy seats on the reviewing stand at the polo game to be played at Fort McPherson Sunday afternoon, October 11, between the polo team of the 22d infantry, U. S. A., and the Governor's Horse Guards of the state national guard.

This event will be sponsored by the Atlanta Federation of Women's clubs, of which Mrs. R. K. Rambo is president. The proceeds resulting from the parking of automobiles will be given to the Tallulah Falls Industrial school, which is owned and maintained by the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs. A grandstand will be erected at each end of the polo field and 50 cents will be charged for the privilege of seats.

Music will be furnished by the 22d infantry band, and blue ribbon winners from the Southeastern fair and the horse show will be on exhibition. The troop from the sixth cavalry stationed at Oglethorpe, Ga., will put on a special drill during the afternoon.

Officers and enlisted men will meet the automobiles on arrival at Fort McPherson to give directions for parking. Reservations can be secured by calling No. 199 at Fort McPherson, after connection is made with West 1690. These reservations will be held until the parties arrive on Sunday, October 11.

Major H. J. Keely, Captain A. R. Bolling and Captain W. A. Cunningham, who are in charge of the arrangements, and stand ready to answer any questions concerning the plans for this entertainment.

Miss Hanson Plays Leading Role in The Judge's Husband

Atlantans in general will be interested in the announcement that Miss Gladys Hanson, foremost in the ranks of artists, is taking the leading role in "The Judge's Husband," which had its premiere in Reading, Pa., last week.

Miss Hanson takes the part of the judge of the superior court, d. William Hodge, a noted actor, takes the role of the husband. The action of the play depicts the home life as being interrupted and upset while the judge is performing her court duties most acceptably and successfully, and it is only when she resigns and returns to her fireside, a sadder and wiser woman, does she really come into her own.

Miss Hanson spent the summer in Atlanta with her father, P. H. Snook, at his home on Cleburne avenue, and she was entertained at a series of social affairs.

HAZLEHURST MEET HELD BY RAYMOND RICHEY

Hazlehurst, Ga., October 8.—(Special.)—That the forgiveness of sin is a much greater miracle than the healing of the body and that men may go to Heaven with a crooked body but not with a warped soul, was the declaration of Rev. Raymond Richey who is conducting revival services here.

It is stated that many testimonials of physical healing are given at the services.

HUBBY IS WOMAN WIFE TELLS COURT SEEKING FREEDOM

New York, October 8.—(AP)—Seeking to annul her marriage on the grounds of fraud, Mrs. Lillian S. Rollins filed papers in the supreme court today charging that her husband, known as Robert E. Rollins, is a woman.

They were married in St. Paul, Minn., May 9, 1923. In her affidavit Mrs. Rollins declared "the defendant was at all times of the female sex and not male, as defendant fraudulently represented self to be."

MERIWETHER SENDS BEST SPELLER TO FAIR

Woodbury, Ga., October 8.—(Special.)—Miss Edith Montgomery will go to Atlanta Saturday from the Meriwether high school to compete for honors at the great Southeastern fair.

She contested with the other schools of the county and was chosen as the best speller, to represent the county at the fair and compete for honors. She is a member of the senior class and considered its leader.

Famous Authority Recommends Block's

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanfield, famous domestic science authority, uses Block's crackers and cookies exclusively both in preparing dishes in which crackers are one of the ingredients and to serve alone.

Mrs. Stanfield explains: "The delicious flavor of Block's crackers and cookies and their unvarying freshness make them my favorite brands both for use in class work and on my own table."

"I use Kennesaw Saltine Crackers perhaps more than I do the others. With salads they are indispensable. Served as a 'munch' with spreads they are delicious. Alone they are always tasty. Frankly I don't know how I'd get along without them."

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

AFTER SIR HUMPHREY GILBERT'S DEATH, HIS PLANS FOR PLANTING AN ENGLISH COLONY IN AMERICA WERE CARRIED ON BY HIS HALF-BROTHER WALTER RALEIGH.

RALEIGH HAD SAILED WITH HIS BROTHER TO NEWFOUNDLAND, WAS A GREAT FAVORITE AT COURT AND VERY WEALTHY.

IN 1584 HE SENT TWO SHIPS UNDER AMADIAS AND BARLOWE TO EXPLORE THE ATLANTIC COAST FOR AN IDEAL SPOT TO PLANT A COLONY.

SAILING UP THE COAST OF NORTH CAROLINA THEY ENTERED PAMLICO SOUND AND CAME TO ROANOKE ISLAND.

Sir Walter Raleigh's Venture.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

LANDING ON ROANOKE ISLAND THE TWO AGENTS WERE DELIGHTED WITH THE BEAUTY OF THE PLACE, THE ABUNDANCE OF FRUITS AND FISH AND THE FRIENDLINESS OF THE INDIANS.

THEY DID NOT LINGER BUT HURRIED BACK TO ENGLAND TO REPORT TO THEIR EMPLOYER.

WHEN RALEIGH SHOWED THE REPORTS OF AMADIAS AND BARLOWE TO QUEEN ELIZABETH AND TOLD HER OF HIS PLANS FOR THE NEW COLONY SHE WAS DELIGHTED AND TO SHOW HER FAVOR SHE MADE RALEIGH A KNIGHT AND NAMED THE NEW LAND "VIRGINIA" IN HONOR OF HERSELF, THE VIRGIN QUEEN.

THE FOLLOWING YEAR RALEIGH SENT RALPH LANE A ROUGH SOLDIER TO ROANOKE WITH A HUNDRED MEN TO EXPLORE THE REGION MORE THOROUGHLY AND TO LAY OUT A SITE FOR A PERMANENT COLONY.

LANE AND HIS MEN EXPLORED THE ROANOKE RIVER AND HEARD FROM THE INDIANS OF CHESAPEAKE BAY.

IN 1586, WITH HIS SUPPLIES RUNNING LOW, LANE DECIDED TO RETURN TO ENGLAND.

JUST AT THAT TIME SIR FRANCIS DRAKE CAME TO ROANOKE ON HIS WAY HOME FROM THE WEST INDIES AND TOOK LANE AND HIS MEN ABOARD.

DECATUR TRADE BODY HOLDS MEET TONIGHT

Decatur, Ga., October 8.—(Special.) Plans to complete the membership of the Decatur chamber of commerce and to advertise Decatur and DeKalb county will be discussed at a meeting to be held in the chamber quarters in the courthouse here Friday night at 7:45 o'clock. President J. Howell Green announces. Many new members are expected to be reported and new canvassing teams will be organized under the leadership of Charles D. McKinney, general chairman; Leon O'Neal, vice chairman; and Team Captains J. Howell Green, W. G. Bryant, F. E. Coogler and L. W. Morris.

Decatur has been divided into four districts, which will be thoroughly canvassed for new members during Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. The chamber already has 500 members and the ultimate goal is set at 1,000.

Of special interest at the meeting will be the report of J. A. McCrary, chairman of the hotel committee, who is expected to report that satisfactory progress is being made toward the erection of a modern tourist hotel in Decatur.

F. H. Roberts is chairman of the committee that is arranging a supper to be given the chamber members and friends in the Masonic temple next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock. The supper will be served by the Decatur Eastern Star, Mrs. J. W. Green, worshipful matron.

Mr. Green announces that an interesting program has been arranged for Tuesday evening and that reservations should be made to the chamber secretary, Guy Guthridge, Decatur 2022.

Reports from Sharon, Pa., that Ames' body had been found at Harrisville were denied late Thursday by J. H. Morrison, Jr., mayor of Harrisville.

Sixteen airplanes engaged in the search turned back Thursday night, closing the seventh day of unsuccessful search.

Rains at Huntsville.
 Huntsville, Ala., October 8.—(Special.)—There has been a very marked change in the weather in this region since Sunday, following a series of heavy rains, winds and thunderstorms. The season of light apparel seems to be over and heavy coats have become very comfortable.

Try Mine

My powders, used by movie stars

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I am a stage star and a movie star. All my friends are stars. I know these public beauties as few do.

We are extravagant. Supreme beauty means so much to us that nothing else can matter. I long paid for powders $5 per box, to secure the very best.

Now, by grace of the makers, I supply those powders at very modest price. The very super-powders for which I paid their price. All toilet counters now supply them at 50c and $1, under the name of Edna Wallace Hopper.

There are two types, but of this superlative grade. One is a cold cream powder which clings and stays. I always use that. But many prefer a light fluffy powder. So I supply both styles. Both come in four shades—white, flesh, peach and brunette.

Let me bring you a new conception of fine powder. Send the coupon for a sample with my Beauty Book. You will be delighted. Learn what we fastidious people use. Clip coupon now.

SLAMS AND SALAAMS

By Louise Dooly

IMPERIALISM in America? Or, movement of taste degradation. Or, we can really do something about it.

Something, for instance, such as is manifest in the drama movement in some universities, and the players' clubs in forward-looking cities where there is that love for the drama which, like any other love, if it is sincere, expresses itself in demonstration, not in futile walls.

Yale and Carolina.
 THERE were two immediate events that set us thinking this way.

One was the announcement of plans for the new million dollar theater and drama center at Yale, and the other was the appearance of the Carolina Players from the University of North Carolina before the National Playwrights' conference in Asheville just now.

Concerning the new Yale center, which is, among other things, to replace in the new theater the old "green room" idea, with its fostering of a closer contact between players, the public and the play, there is this somewhat encouraging circumstance to us outsiders: that Harvard university, with all its background of culture, failed to find a place last year for its "Workshop 47"—that school of the drama which had so far overstepped anything that was originally expected of it in the play material and the actor material it turned out.

And while Harvard's Yale came in and took its Professor Baker, genius of the movement, its studio movement, and the prestige they had built up, and is about to house the idea in a million dollar workshop at New Haven.

As for the Carolina Players, the university did not have a very money to support such a movement, but the desire was there; the active desire. Therefore—achievement.

The Possessive Instinct.
 JUST so, any city will get an art life when enough people want it or a few want it enough.

Might few towns get big industries unless they want them badly enough to go out after them or offer inducements.

Business of Lamenting.
 WELL, of course we of the minority can just sit still and lament. Or we can fall in with the great national

Same way with a town that wants tourists. There have got to be provided some special reasons why tourists should go there instead of some other place.

And that town is not going to get industry or tourists or art in a hurry where half the people sit back and criticize how the other half goes about getting them.

Are They Incompatible?
 MOREOVER, what's the use turning up one's artistic nose at a community's "spirit of commercialism," which is death to the spirit of art?

As a matter of fact, it isn't. It's industry—big industry, successful industry, founded on the spirit of commercialism, which in this blessed country of ours pays for our art. We might almost say, makes art possible in America.

Genius might be romping all over the lot, but if there isn't somebody to buy the paintings, or the music, or the plays, and put them where everybody can get the benefit of them, how is art going to be popularized? How is art going to become a part of the daily life?

You Hear This Annually.
 "I'm terribly disinterested about our art exhibit. We've worked so hard over it. It is an admirable collection. It is intended for everybody. But most people are so indifferent about it."

Whatever your town, don't you hear some promoter of the arts say that at least annually?

But just let them consider the ministers of the church, for instance. They have the greatest message in the world to convey. And are people always keen to hear it?

The Isolation of Culture.
 THERE is nothing more forlorn than the highbrow isolated from his kind.

The lowbrow, however, alone, has always the refuge of his radio, which, with a twist of the wrist, will turn on him all the jazz bands in America; or a baseball game is available; or the comic sheets in the daily papers.

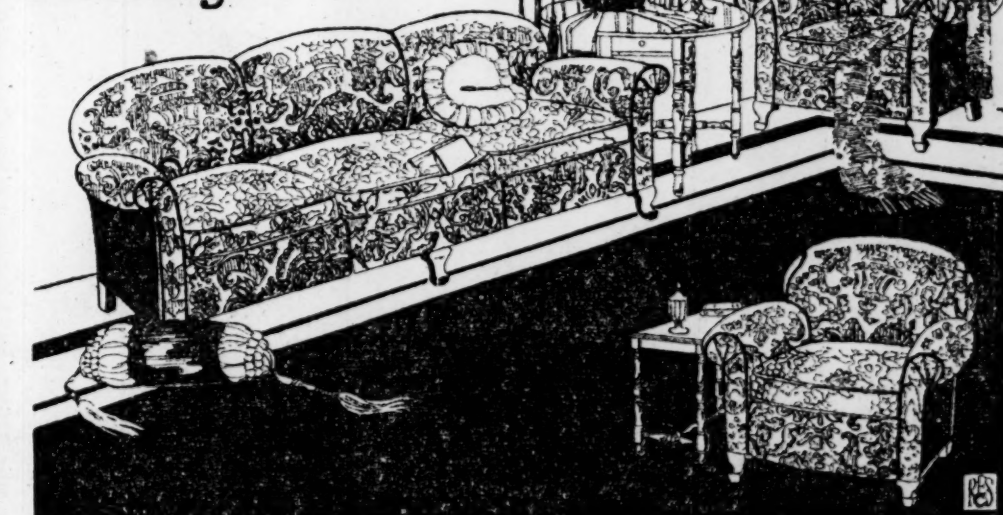

Does he sit back and lament about the growing culture of the community? He does not, because he is probably blissfully unaware of it, or at least knows it cannot touch him.

He has a tremendous fund of self-satisfaction.

And why shouldn't he? Doesn't he go after what he wants and get it? Why not go-getters in the arts?

THE PEARL HEADED PIN

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.
Henry Ledway and his partner, John Selkirk, are accused of murdering a business rival. Ledway is supposed to have died in a railroad wreck. Selkirk serves twenty years in prison. From his release he informs Ledway's wife and her present husband, Colonel Hallett, that neither he nor Ledway was guilty. The Halletts are remodeling their London home, and Mrs. Hallett goes there to meet the contractor, Edward March. Ledway appears and threatens her with blackmail. Colonel Hallett arrives and Ledway, trying to escape, falls through an open shaft. The colonel, unable to find the body, holds his wife's story of the occurrence as a hallucination. March, it develops later, kills Ledway's wife and drops from a high window. Ledway's body is taken from the river. It is identified by Ray Bristow, a tutor of Mrs. Hallett's daughter, Joan, as that of March. His uncle, by means of the papers, the police hunt Selkirk, suspected of killing March. A pearl-headed pin found on the body, which Ledway had taken from Mrs. Hallett, is identified as hers. Fearing that she and her husband will be accused if the dead man is identified as Ledway, she testifies at the inquest that she had given the pin to March. The confidence of her husband and Joan is further shaken by the news that March will his fortune of 250,000 pounds to Mrs. Hallett. Cornhoise, with whom Joan plans to open a modiste's shop, calls and Mrs. Hallett recognizes him as March. He reveals that he named her in his will so he might get the money back following his disappearance by blackmailing her. Mrs. Hallett forces him to shelter Selkirk by threatening to call the police. When Joan learns that her mother is mysteriously unable to give March's money to Bristow, as Mrs. Hallett had when she sells him his recognition as his uncle, Detective Inspector Rason learns that Mrs. Hallett has not told the truth about a number of details, and Mrs. Hallett, in order to avoid further questioning, goes out of town without leaving an address. Cornhoise continues to pay attention to Joan.

"No, I mean the stuff you handed out to me. Do you remember when I told you that I had spoken to March?"

"Well?" demanded Cornhoise puzzled.

"That's all. That was the stuff you handed out to me. You handed out to me that you knew, for absolutely certain, that I had not spoken to March. That's all. Really all. I wanted to know that and you told me."

"Very clever my dear Selkirk," he said patronizingly. "But as I'm always telling you clever people, you rely too much on your cleverness. You think that, for instance, because of a slip I made, when there were no witnesses, and revealed to you that I was in that building—because of that you think that you can terrorize me. You terrorize me so little that I tell you you can go to the devil."

"I'm going to the police first," said Selkirk. "And I shall be charged with the murder of Edward March. That's rich, isn't it? I wonder you don't write a farce about it, my dear March."

There came a low, hissing sound from March that was instantly bitten off.

"I see we understand each other," resumed Selkirk.

"I will want to know why you came here. If you think there's anything in this tale of yours, why didn't you go straight to the police?"

"I want to make a bargain. By the way, I've got a little bit back, haven't I? I've spoiled your wedding day. If you ever see your bride again, it will be from the dock. But if I were you I wouldn't risk seeing her again. That's the bargain I've come to offer you."

"Then take it to the devil," snapped Cornhoise. "What do you threaten me with? Concealing the fact that I've been murdered? Living under a false name? I shall be fined 5 pounds sterling. I shall be fined 5 pounds sterling."

"After which you will reclaim the quarter of a million—what you left and live happily ever afterwards. I suppose," suggested Selkirk. "March, you've made me cruel and hard enough to enjoy this."

"What do you know?" rapped out March.

"I know what I didn't know before. Previously I thought that the body of Henry Ledway was thrown from the top of Cordways House just before you stabbed him in the throat. But I know now that he stepped through that secret door by accident. That was what puzzled me. Come, man, cut the injured innocence. There are no witnesses."

"Precisely," said March. "There are no witnesses."

INSTALLMENT LX.

The Trap That Sprung.

Selkirk became impatient. "My dear March, you misunderstand me. Perhaps it was my fault. I phrased my sentences clumsily. I meant there are no witnesses present at this moment. As to the stabbing of Henry Ledway—as to the wrapping him in the tarpaulin and putting him in the chair—I was a witness of that. I followed you to Cordways House that day, you see. I saw you go into the foundations. I was on the opposite side. Oddly enough, I was just going to shoot you when poor old Ledway came tumbling from the sky. Of course, I didn't know it was Ledway, and believe me, there was no more puzzled man in London when the body picked out the next day was proved to be that of Edward March. Now that is being clever, March, very clever indeed."

"You say you followed me to Cordways House. Where from? Where did you begin following me?" asked March.

"Ah, that would be telling you too much," said Selkirk. "I have still to drive a bargain with you, remember."

"Beh! You don't tell me because you can't tell me! You've simply listened to Mrs. Hallett's tale and—"

"You mean," interrupted Selkirk, his eyes gleaming with a strange light—"you mean that I would give false evidence against you and thereby get you hanged—or imprisoned for twenty years?"

"My God!" gasped March. "So this is your revenge, eh?"

"Yes," said Selkirk simply.

There followed a long silence. March was crouching in his chair. Now and again his hands twitched with a nervous, thrashing movement as if he were testing the meshes of a net. Then, slowly, he steadied himself.

"You spoke of a bargain?" he jerked out.

"I warn you the terms are pretty stiff," said Selkirk. "Haden't you better take a few minutes more to think it over? As long as you think there's a loophole, you won't agree to the terms. And there isn't a loophole. Just reflect on the position of Mrs. Hallett in the room above, and the position of myself concealed in the foundations. What I relate dovetails with what she related. Corroborative evidence of Colonel Hallett on minor points. But of course, you are a bit of an expert at evidence. I needn't labor over it."

"What are the terms?" demanded March. "And what is the consideration?"

"The consideration is somewhat small, I admit," said Selkirk. "It is that I wait in this room while you get out of it—while you get away—efface yourself—out of the country, if you can, anywhere. In short, I offer you a getaway, as my friends at Dartmoor call it—though whether you will get much further than, say, Brighton station, is your affair, not mine. I suppose you've got some money about you? I've got thirty pounds left out of what you gave me the other day. You can have that."

As he spoke, Selkirk laid the notes on the table.

"And the terms, man—the terms, the terms?"

"Safety for Mrs. Hallett from the charge of murdering Ledway—safety for myself from the charge of murdering March. In short, a written confession of the whole thing."

"Pah! It's madness. Do you think I'd be such a fool?"

"As to refuse?" put in Selkirk. "Of course you won't. You'll accept. Think of it, March. At this moment, Mrs. Hallett and I are absolutely safe. The second you are arrested, we can prove your identity and I am safe. As soon as they hear our little tale—especially my little tale, March—Mrs. Hallett is safe. You can rely on that. I am giving false evidence. It won't help you. Under cross-examination you will be unable to account for the time during which I maintain that I saw you in those foundations."

"But still I've got a fighting chance," supplemented Selkirk. "You haven't had time to work it all out yet, March. You had such a terrifically strong case. But it all collapses on my evidence. And you know it. Why, hang it, man, if you take your chance and bolt, it may be two days or more before they start chasing you. By that time you can be in the Balkans. . . . I'm not in a hurry. Take—five minutes—to decide."

March rose unsteadily. He staggered to the writing table and sat down.

"I will dictate," said Selkirk. "Are you ready? . . . I, Edward March, anxious to redress the wrongs I have done others, notably Mrs. Hallett, wife of Colonel Hallett, and John Selkirk, against whom I bore false witness, hereby, of my own free will, make the following confession:—"

For ten minutes Selkirk steadily dictated all the essential points of March's crime.

When March had finished, Selkirk read the document, nodded and rang the bell.

"We want a couple of chambermaids to witness your signature," he said. "You can put blotting paper over the writing, of course."

When the chambermaids had withdrawn, March recovered something of his old vitality.

"You've got your revenge, brother Selkirk," he sneered. "But I've yielded all I'm going to yield. You won't drive me an inch further."

"I am content," said Selkirk. "That's because you're a sentimental fool. Let me tell you, you've bungled this. That precious document you've got in your pocket, prove that I'm not dead—proves that Mrs. Hallett has no title to the money she is collecting in the belief that I am dead."

"Dear me, I overlooked that!" said Selkirk.

"You seem to be under the delusion, too, that you're in some way annulled my marriage," continued March. "John is still my wife, wherever I am—and in due course she will join me."

While he spoke, March gathered up the notes Selkirk had placed on the table and rapidly ran through his own wall.

"I think you induced Miss Hallett to marry you by promising her you would protect her mother," said Selkirk.

"What if I did?"

"You've cheated her. And as she is a friend of mine—"

"O, go to hell! I'm going to change these clothes."

101 Ranch Hit As Fire Burns Cars on Track

Gainesville, Ga., October 8.—Two sleeping cars of the Miller Brothers, "101 Ranch," which were completely destroyed by fire, while the show train was standing on the siding of the Southern railroad, near the Southern depot, here at noon today. The damage is estimated by the Miller Brothers to be more than $10,000. The origin of the fire was thought to be from sparks from a switch engine, that was constantly passing the show train placing fire cars.

One of the cars was a solid state train coach occupied by the business staff of the show and the other car was a performers' sleeper. All personal belongings were completely destroyed. As soon as the smoke gushed out of the windows, the switch engine was summoned and the train crew uncoupled the flaming cars from the remaining 38 cars of the train, but the flames had gained such headway, that it was impossible to save anything but the wheels of the two cars. Tex Cooper, one of the cowboys with the show, was the only person injured, he being badly cut about the wrist, when trying to gain entrance to one of the cars by the way of a window. All the performers and staff that occupied the train were on the show grounds, a short distance away. The entire working forces of the show assisted the Gainesville fire department in extinguishing the blaze.

Stone Baking Company To Entertain Atlanta Citizens at Luncheon

Members of the Civitan club of Atlanta, their wives and friends will be honored guests of the Stone Baking company at 12 o'clock today at a luncheon and inspection tour of the new ultra-modern cake and bread plant located at the corner of Jackson street and Highland avenue.

An entertaining program has been arranged under supervision of the Edico Piano company, formerly the Ampico-Edison company, and will be featured by a number of vocal selections by Miss Ruth Lloyd Kinney, noted contralto, of New York. She will be accompanied by the Ampico. The inspection tour will begin promptly at 12 o'clock and the luncheon will follow at 12:30 o'clock.

AGNES SCOTT COLLEGE DEDICATES GYMNASIUM

Decatur, Ga., October 8.—(Special.) The new gymnasium at Agnes Scott College built at a cost of $200,000 to honor the memory of the late George B. Scott, who was a member of the board of trustees of the college for 44 years, was dedicated tonight, the exercises beginning at 8:20 o'clock. J. K. Orr, chairman of the board of trustees, presided and C. Murphy Chandler gave a sketch of Mr. Scott's life. Miss Irene H. Scott, daughter of the late George B. Scott, presided at the physical education department, spoke on "The Value of the Building on the Campus." Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the college, presided at the dedication exercises. The building is said to be one of the most modern of its kind in the United States.

East Point Chamber of Commerce Plans Membership Campaign

East Point, Ga., October 8.—(Special.)—At an informal get-together meeting held here tonight by those interested in the newly organized East Point Chamber of Commerce, plans were discussed for a membership campaign.

plan, soon to be launched by the body. President J. E. Hughes, who presided, stated that all East Point citizens are enthusiastic over the fact that the city is to have an active trade board and that all indications point to a large membership when the drive is put on.

The East Point chamber has been organized only two weeks, but it has already made strides toward pushing the work of placing before the world the city's advantages, both for homes and manufacturing plants.

It was brought out at tonight's meeting that few cities of its size have as many manufacturing plants as East Point, and a folder is being prepared by Secretary H. B. Suttles, which not only tells of the products manufactured here, but also tells of the desirability of this section as a home site.

At the next meeting of the chamber to be held at an early date, committees for the membership campaign are expected to be announced.

Once DECO-MURA dries on the wall—as it will in just an hour or so—you will wonder why some people still do rooms with ordinary kalsomine.

For, though DECO-MURA costs no more than common wall finish, it lends a depth of hue and a richness of beauty to a room which is beyond all comparison.

What is more, this exquisite wall finish, in any of its 15 charming tints, is as permanent as anything but costly paint can be. It will neither flake off nor crackle, nor rub off on clothing.

And it is so easy to put on, without muss or fuss!

Pretty Girls Find Abundant Evidence Of Georgia's Prosperity at Big Fair

VENDETTA MAKES LAST APPEARANCE

1925, as a result of her brilliant triumph at Louisville and in accordance with Mr. Adair's plans will be retired to his Nisky Lake farm directly after the show here.

Bob McCray, recognized as one of the greatest horse show masters in the country, will ride Vendetta. In addition to the appearance of this star there are several class events that are considered worthy of the attendance of horse lovers.

Atlanta Entries.
A number of the Atlanta entries will be seen in the various classes, and they will be hard pressed to carry off honors, as they will be competing against some of the finest show mounts in the south.

The junior championship will be one of the features of the card. This class is open to five-year-old mares, geldings or stallions and the first prize winner will receive $150.

The top prize of $150 also will be awarded to the winner in class as to the best horse show masters in the country.

On the regular program for tonight the class eleven for mares and geldings for geldings are outstanding. One hundred and fifty dollars in each race is the first place prize.

Cavalry Exhibit.
The sixth cavalry from Fort Oglethorpe, here to thrill the fair crowds with dapper horsemanship, has arranged to present Highland as a feature attraction of the "after show" to be staged by the cavalry outfit.

Lieutenant D. A. Beck, one of the most daring riders in the regiment, is to put the noted war horse through its best stunts. He will leap over the heads of a file of soldiers lined up across the race track.

Captain O. C. Newell, commanding officer of troop A; Lieutenant Beck and Sergeants Clanton and Erickson will jump their horses in pairs, one of the most difficult feats as it requires that each horse be under perfect control so that the jump can be accurately timed in unison. They will go over the stone walls, the triple bar brush hurdles and other obstacles.

Thirty-two picked riders from troop A will give an exhibition saddle drill as a grand finale, forming a heart, an "A," the cross of St. George and other symbols and will give the show a thrilling climax by hurrying out of the show ring, leaping through a circle of fire.

tional chasm to children who are dying and women who are starving in Georgia because intelligent women have not used this instrument for the advancement of humanity," said Mrs. Walker in speaking on the ballot in her address at the morning session.

"Politics are not affairs of personal ambition, they do not consist in speech-making or vote-getting, but they are the simple teaching of the gospel of love permeating the heart of politics. Politics are the application of moral and religious teaching; they should be the chief occupation of life. Politics functioning in the right way bring about the greatest development of all mankind. Here is a wonderful panorama of service.

"Politics can bring about the full development of every man's life of thinking and action. It can breed high emotionalism governed by serious thought. The non-feeling, non-thought non-acting women of Georgia must be made to realize this. The biggest plank, if I may use the term, in a woman's politics should be the aim of having a clear mind in a healthy body.

Influence of Women.
"In the final count, the world acknowledges that women set the standards of living. Every man is under the influence of some woman. She should not use this influence lightly as one applies a lipstick. Nor should she permit politics to be used as a spade to cover motives or hidden actions of the past. She should use every effort both direct and indirect to send men to office whom we know are in line with progressive thought. In politics the man's past record is the only thing that can be depended on.

"Georgia is thinking along educational lines as never before. Now is the greatest opportunity to work for universal education. The selfish desire of individual wealth blocked tax reform in Georgia, a reform vitally needed for Georgia's development. It is given to the women who make the home life in this state to work to combat these things, and in this way eventually to seek the kingdom of heaven."

Activities of League.
Mrs. Mary O. Cowper, director of the third region of the League of Women Voters, discussed the three paramount activities of the national program of the organization. The first being support of the world court; second, lobbying for adequate appropriation for support of the woman's bureau in Washington, and third, fighting the Wadsworth amendment to the constitution of the United States, popularly known as the "blanket amendment."

"We believe in the world court, not because we believe that it will solve world problems, but because we think it is a step in that direction," said Mrs. Cowper. "The national association is vitally interested in securing appropriations for the women's bureau under which the Sheppard-Towner act functions.
